Dominican Junta Spurns U.N. Appeal

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The Dominican junta, scenting victory in the civil war, turned thumbs down Tuesday night on a United Nations appeal for a cease-fire. The rebels said they were willing.

Jose Antonio Mayobre of Venezuela, U.N. Secretary-General U Thant's special Dominican envoy, told a news conference that Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, the junta chief, "indicated he thought he was winning and therefore could not talk of a cease-fire."

Mayobre said Col. Francisco Caamano Deno, the insurgent leader, had expressed willingness to accept a truce.

Imbert's forces were pressing a tank-led offensive to smash rebel pockets north of the U.S.-controlled east-west corridor across Santo Domingo.

Commodore Francisco J. Rivera Caminero, the armed forces secretary, claimed the drive was progressing steadily. But there were signs the junta forces were running into stiff resistance on the southern flank of the eastward push.

Sharp explosions jolted the capital waterfront Tuesday, arousing fear that the junta troops were shelling the rebels' main stronghold in the downtown area. The junta blamed the blasts on dynamiting by U.S. troops in an area east of the Ozama River, but this could not be confirmed by U.S. authorities.

A U.S. attempt to woo away the junta's military support failed when the Dominican armed forces refused to abandon Imbert.

The United States reportedly hoped to force the junta out to set the stage for formation of a coalition government acceptable to both the rebels and the military forces opposing them. Rejecting what he called official U.S. pressure, Rivera Caminero said the military would only accept a new government of "national harmony" composed of the junta and "all democratic parties in the country."

The rebels have refused to participate in any government with the junta.

Two of President Johnson's special envoys, Undersecretary of State Thomas C. Mann and former ambbassador John Bartlow Martin, returned to Washington Tuesday night.

State Department sources said Mann and Martin reported to Secretary of State Dean Rusk. No details were given out.

McGeorge Bundy, the President's national security affairs adviser, remained in the Dominican Republic to continue the U.S. peacemaking effort.

Associated Press writer Lewis Gulick reported from Washington that the Johnson administration's main aim is to get a middle-road civilian regime set up which could wield enough authority to stop the fighting.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker told the OAS Council in Washington "there is reason to believe" that able men are available to serve in a new Dominican government which would exclude Communists and other extremist elements.

85 More Reds Killed In Raid By Viet Planes

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Vietnamese fighter-bombers killed 85 Viet Cong in an attack in Binh Thuan Province today, a U.S. spokesman announced.

The spokesman said a U.S. forward air controller observed the Viet Cong assembling in company strength in a mountain valley and called in Vietnamese planes that were flying to another target.

The fighter-bombers attacked with heavy bombs and machine guns for 20 minutes.

Forty U.S. Navy planes destroyed three military barracks and inflicted heavy damage on other installations in the second consecutive day of air strikes against North Viet Nam, a U.S. military spokesman reported.

The spokesman said the aircraft from the carrier Coral Sea struck at two target areas 40 miles north of the demilitarized zone separating North and South Viet Nam.

The raid was the second in 24 hours after a six-day suspension of air strikes against the Communist North. Speculation grew that the United States may broaden the air attacks.

The barracks were destroyed at Hoan Lao. It was not known whether they were occupied.

A military radio station, a power house and communications and administration buildings were reported destroyed at nearby Chanh Hoa.

The spokesman said 30 Skyhawks, Skyraiders and Skywarriors, supported by 10 F4 and F8 Crusaders, pounded the targets for 45 minutes with missiles, rockets and 50 tons of bombs.

Pilots reported light ground fire and said no enemy planes were sighted. All the planes returned to the carrier safely, the spokesman said.

U.S. Marines carried out their first amphibious assault in South Viet Nam today, moving across the Ca De River to hit Viet Cong-held Truong Minh village.

A burst of machine-gun fire wounded one Marine in the operation 9 miles from Da Nang, but the guerrilla fled and no further contact was made.

In the village, the Marines found only 12 women and children and one old man. There were many booby traps, trenches and bunkers.

At least two U.S. Marine jet squadrons based in the Philippines have been put on the alert for duty in Viet Nam, possibly this month, a high military source reported. They will bring U.S. Marine strength in South Viet Nam to nearly 16,000 men.

Vietnamese sources said a six-battalion operation against the Viet Cong near the border with North Viet Nam was called off today without making contact with the Communists.

The operation started Tuesday. It was reported bad weath-

They're Heading Back To Texas

Goin' West - - At A Leisurely Pace

Residents of the west end of Wellsville, Highlandtown and Salineville literally rubbed their eyes in amazement Tuesday when they saw these two wagon teams clippety - clopping along Routes 7 and 39.

Coming along the highways like something out of the Old West era, the two wagons carrying Charles Prickett and his wife, Jetty, back to Amarillo, Tex., after a trip to the New York World's Fair drew wondering stares from passing motorists.

Prickett and his wife are being accompanied this week by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bane of Eldersville, Pa., whom they met last year while en route to the fair. Bane is taking a week of his vacation to make the journey.

The two couples camped at Yellow Creek Monday after coming through Weirton and Steubenville Monday and then resumed their journey when the fog lifted yesterday.

Prickett said they intended to follow Route 39 to Carrollton and then take Route 43 into Canton.

If it seems to be a wandering journey, don't be alarmed! Prickett said he doesn't expect to arrive in Amarillo until Sept. 15. He's on leave of absence as a warehouse foreman for an oil field supply firm.

With some 4,000 miles behind them, including the wonders of New York, the four mules appeared ready for the remainder of the long jaunt.

Sixteen months were required to make the trip from Texas to the fair, with Prickett, his wife and daughter each handling a wagon team. Averaging 20 to 25 miles a day, they arrived at the fair last July and remained until Sept. 1.

Prickett's daughter later returned to Texas and he disposed of one wagon team before starting the return trip.

After spending the winter near Breezewood, Pa., they started the homeward trek on March 15.

The group spent Tuesday night at Salineville on the Buck Maple property.

3 Are Named For Beaver's Judge Contest

With little more than 50 per cent of registered Beaver County voters going to the polls in Tuesday's primary, most races went as predicted.

In the only major countywide contest, Republican candidate Ralph F. Scalera of Beaver, a native of Midland, was nominated by both parties for judge of the Court of Common Pleas.

ATTY. JOHN W. Sawyer of Beaver, seeking office for the first time, won the second position on the Republican ballot, while Eugene A. Caputo of Ambridge, who had been backed by the Democratic organization, was named as the second candidate on the Democratic ballot.

Six candidates for nomination to the judicial posts cross-filed. The others included: Joseph A. Reiser of Beaver, J. Frank Kelker of Rochester, Arthur S. Herskovitz of Aliquippa and Eugene A. Caputo of Ambridge.

With 128 of 133 county precincts counted, the vote showed: Scalera with a total of 12,041 on the Republican ballot and 15,482 on the Democratic ballot.

Sawyer received 14,475 votes on the Republican ballot and 7,935 on the Democrat, while Caputo received 1,362 on the Republican slate and a winning total of 11,977 on the Democratic.

Other tallies showed: Reiser 4,569 and 7,568; Kelker 4,214 and 4,126; Herskovitz 1,280 and 10,971.

IN THE only other countywide race, Ethel Powell of New Brighton received 14,805 votes in defeating Gus J. Karakitsos of Ambridge, 4,149, on the Republican ballot for jury commissioner.

On the Democratic slate, Anna Mae Dugan of Raccoon Township, with 16,495 votes, defeated Sam Urick of Aliquippa, 12,391.

In Midland, interest was centered on the Democratic race for the office of tax collector, with Lester Trainer Jr the apparent winner in a five-way race.

Fellow councilman Joseph A. Hibbard was a close second, followed by Rudy Zetz, John Perkins Jr. and Arthur (Tubby) Petrosky. Their vote showed:

Hibbard	443

Wellsville Council Given Local Firm's TV Request

A proposal for operation of a community antenna television system in Wellsville was filed with Wellsville City Council Tuesday night by Columbiana CATV, Inc., owned jointly by the East Liverpool Review and the Neptune Broadcasting Corp. of Steubenville.

Seeking a second non - exclusive franchise, the proposal was presented by Atty. Jackman S. Vodrey of East Liverpool, secretary - treasurer of the firm.

A similar proposal was presented to East Liverpool City Council Monday night. It calls for the firm to pay 3 per cent of its gross subscription fees to the city treasury. Vodrey said this could amount to as high as $4,000 a year for Wellsville.

An official of Rego Industries, Inc., of Hoboken, N. J., granted a franchise late in 1964, presented a progress report on construction of the system by his firm.

Vodrey presented each of the councilmen a thick brochure and underscored the point of local ownership of the system and the fact that the Columbiana CATV has a contract with Ohio Bell Telephone Co. to install, maintain and operate the cable system.

He said the proposal would mean a savings to the residents of the community through a lower service rate, $4.95 per month, as well as a lower installation charge.

Councilman William Stoddard, franchise chairman, said he had received information that Ohio Bell would not grant pole rights if two firms were seeking a franchise. He asked if this would halt Rego's progress.

Vodrey explained that Ohio Bell was governed by the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio and could not grant rights to one firm and not another. He said this would produce competition, which should be more beneficial to residents in the long run.

Councilman Dwight MacLean commented that Council already had granted one franchise and shouldn't be listening to another.

Councilman Paul Todd said he favors competition and a system that will pay money to the city. "Everything here appears favorable to the city," he said.

Stoddard reiterated his belief that any action on Council's part will block the progress of Rego and said that "it is my suggestion this not even be put into committee until Rego is granted its pole rights and has started construction."

Vodrey asked if his firm does not have the same rights and then commented he hopes Council will study the proposal in the brochure before making its decision.

J. S. Fisher of Lewistown, Pa., director of public relations for Rego, presented a progress report for his firm. He was accompanied by the firm's local counsel, Atty. G. William Brokaw, and James Coffee, general assistant manager of the firm.

Fisher said a field survey has been made of the poles and the actual routing of the cable. He said a house count has been completed, the transformer lo-

Senate Vote Slated Today On Poll Tax

Would Cite It As Used For Denying Negro Voting Right

WASHINGTON (AP) —The Senate votes today on a proposal that Congress declare the poll tax has been used in some states to deny Negroes their voting rights.

Offered by Republican and Democratic leaders as an amendment to the voting-rights bill, it is designed to mollify liberals who tried to have poll taxes for state and local elections flatly outlawed in the pending legislation. They already have been outlawed in federal elections by constitutional amendment.

Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., led a blistering attack on the proposed amendment, accusing Senate leaders of "marching down the hill" after

New Offers Rejected On Curb Meters

Board Of Control Cites Restriction On Manual Type

Declaring they feel the right to bid should not be restricted to one type, Mayor Merrill D. Hall and Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey Tuesday afternoon rejected all offers received April 15 on purchase of 409 new parking meters.

The officials, comprising the Board of Control, said in turning down the offers that they feel Council should permit manufacturers of both automatic and manual meters to compete, rather than restricting the bidding to the automatic models.

The April 15 bids represented the second round of offers in a continuing move to replace

Seal-Coating Planned For Blacktop Streets

Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said today specifications have been prepared which call for seal-coating 56,000 square yards of blacktop streets this summer at the city's expense.

The director said the sealing is planned mainly on sections of a long series of streets that were improved initially in 1963 in the annual low-cost paving program. Householders paid 50 per cent of the cost of the 1963 program. Some of the streets due seal-coating have conventional blacktop surfaces, the director said.

The administration will issue a call for bids on the seal-coating as soon as Council enacts legislative authority, the director said.

Capital Improvements

County Projects Included In Action By Ohio House

By WILLIAM S. VANCE
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Capital improvements totaling $263,500 in Columbiana County are included in $189.5 million worth of spending endorsed Tuesday afternoon by the Ohio House.

The bill passed by the House includes $130,000 for the Highlandtown Lake development, $10,000 for Guilford Lake improvements and $133,500 for a Bureau of Unemployment Compensation office at Salem.

A six-year capital spending projection issued earlier in the year by the administration includes $250,000 for Guilford Lake, $778,000 for the Highlandtown Wildlife Area and $650,000 for Beaver Creek State Park.

Tuesday's House action is subject to counter - signing by the Senate.

At the same time, House Finance Chairman Ralph Fisher, R-Wayne, announced a second capital improvements bill, splitting up the first chunk of the $290 million bond issue approved by voters May 4, will be introduced within three weeks.

State Finance Director Richard L. Krabach said his department will finish work on this second bill by the end of this week or early next week.

Total dollar amount of the measure has not been determined, but Krabach estimated it will call for appropriating "in the neighborhood of $150 million."

Not all of this will be bond money, he said. Some of it will represent federal matching funds.

How fast the first capital improvements bill will move in the politically - stalemated Senate remains in question. Introduction of the second measure is expected to touch off concerted political bargaining, both on appropriations and other legislation.

USW Board Airs Protests Over Election

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The United Steelworkers' executive board convenes as the union's highest appeals body today to hear protests arising from the Feb. 9 union election.

The 33-member board was called into session by President David J. McDonald, who was defeated for re-election to a fourth term by Secretary-Treasurer I. W. Abel.

When union tellers declared Abel the winner last month by 10,142 votes out of the more than 600,000 cast, McDonald said he would ask the executive board to investigate irregularities and order a recount in some locals.

It was uncertain how long the meeting would last, but it was expected to take up most of today and possibly another day or two.

A quick decision, however, was considered likely so the union can concentrate on basic steel contract talks.

The board was expected to hear numerous protests of voting irregularities in separate locals, plus general protests by McDonald.

The meeting came a day after the basic steel talks — twice interrupted by the bitter Abel-McDonald campaign and the election aftermath — resumed in Pittsburgh.

New Offers Rejected On Curb Meters

Declaring they feel the right to bid should not be restricted to one type, Mayor Merrill D. Hall and Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey Tuesday afternoon rejected all offers received April 15 on purchase of 409 new parking meters.

The officials, comprising the Board of Control, said in turning down the offers that they feel Council should permit manufacturers of both automatic and manual meters to compete, rather than restricting the bidding to the automatic models.

The April 15 bids represented the second round of offers in a continuing move to replace

Seal-Coating Planned For Blacktop Streets

Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said today specifications have been prepared which call for seal-coating 56,000 square yards of blacktop streets this summer at the city's expense.

The director said the sealing is planned mainly on sections of a long series of streets that were improved initially in 1963 in the annual low-cost paving program. Householders paid 50 per cent of the cost of the 1963 program. Some of the streets due seal-coating have conventional blacktop surfaces, the director said.

The administration will issue a call for bids on the seal-coating as soon as Council enacts legislative authority, the director said.

Capital Improvements

County Projects Included In Action By Ohio House

By WILLIAM S. VANCE
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Capital improvements totaling $263,500 in Columbiana County are included in $189.5 million worth of spending endorsed Tuesday afternoon by the Ohio House.

The bill passed by the House includes $130,000 for the Highlandtown Lake development, $10,000 for Guilford Lake improvements and $133,500 for a Bureau of Unemployment Compensation office at Salem.

A six-year capital spending projection issued earlier in the year by the administration includes $250,000 for Guilford Lake, $778,000 for the Highlandtown Wildlife Area and $650,000 for Beaver Creek State Park.

Tuesday's House action is subject to counter - signing by the Senate.

At the same time, House Finance Chairman Ralph Fisher, R-Wayne, announced a second capital improvements bill, splitting up the first chunk of the $290 million bond issue approved by voters May 4, will be introduced within three weeks.

State Finance Director Richard L. Krabach said his department will finish work on this second bill by the end of this week or early next week.

Total dollar amount of the measure has not been determined, but Krabach estimated it will call for appropriating "in the neighborhood of $150 million."

Not all of this will be bond money, he said. Some of it will represent federal matching funds.

How fast the first capital improvements bill will move in the politically - stalemated Senate remains in question. Introduction of the second measure is expected to touch off concerted political bargaining, both on appropriations and other legislation.

USW Board Airs Protests Over Election

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The United Steelworkers' executive board convenes as the union's highest appeals body today to hear protests arising from the Feb. 9 union election.

The 33-member board was called into session by President David J. McDonald, who was defeated for re-election to a fourth term by Secretary-Treasurer I. W. Abel.

When union tellers declared Abel the winner last month by 10,142 votes out of the more than 600,000 cast, McDonald said he would ask the executive board to investigate irregularities and order a recount in some locals.

It was uncertain how long the meeting would last, but it was expected to take up most of today and possibly another day or two.

A quick decision, however, was considered likely so the union can concentrate on basic steel contract talks.

The board was expected to hear numerous protests of voting irregularities in separate locals, plus general protests by McDonald.

The meeting came a day after the basic steel talks — twice interrupted by the bitter Abel-McDonald campaign and the election aftermath — resumed in Pittsburgh.

The Right-To-Work Battle

There will be a mighty battle in Congress over the issue of repealing Sec. 14 (B) of the Taft-Hartley Labor - Management Act of 1947—the so-called right-to-work law.

It really won't be worth the oratory. The bloodshed will be catsup and the screams of agony will be pre-recorded. This is a symbolic, not a real, issue.

President Johnson, in repeating the Democratic party's pledge of 1960 and 1964 to repeal Sec. 14 (B) is paying a debt to his union backers. The Democratic party is dependent on unions for its success at the polls.

The only right-to-work laws now exist in states that are not industrialized, or they are laws limited to agricultural workers. Most of the right-to-work states are in the South.

Legislators from the Southern states will be vociverous in Congress, hoping to entice industrial enterprise from Northern states with the lure of official anti-unionism. But even the outright repeal of Sec. 14 (B) wouldn't change the attitude of Southern states that support this type of industry-luring. Their local officials would still be staunchly anti-union. They still would practice union-baiting.

This has been one of the nation's most frustrating dilemmas — this conflict between the view that no one should be required to join a union as a condition of employment and the view that union security is the backbone of industrial stability. Both sides have had much to apologize for in the way their views have been presented and misrepresented.

The arguments are compelling on both sides. But wherever both have been heard fully and fairly one thing always has been plain—that right-to-work backers in the main have been motivated by anti-union feelings.

They have been in a negative position. And in industrial states they have learned to their chagrin that they are a heavily outnumbered minority, as they discovered in Ohio, California and Indiana.

So the battle in Congress will be fought, but it will be meaningless.

The main purpose will be a public demonstration of strength—and in the 89th Congress anti-unionists are foredoomed to disappointment.

Hang In There!

As their troubles pile up, residents in the St. Clair Ave. improvement area must be wondering about the price of progress.

Dust clouds are adding to the woes that go with highway construction. All in all, the project is proving pretty much of a nightmare.

But, as they used to say in the old melodramas, it's always darkest before the dawn. In a short time the trials and tribulations will have vanished along with the trucks, cement mixers and other mechanical monsters necessary to a highway program.

Where once were ditches and dirt will stand a smooth ribbon of concrete free of the torturous holes and bumps that have jerked cars and riders alike for years.

Then the dark days will be forgotten and life will seem worth living once more.

Legalism After The Fact

Ohio is going to have a humane slaughter law.

Humane societies in Ohio have been urging their legislators for years to enact a humane slaughter law.

They have circularized the state with literature depicting the horrors of old-time commercial slaughter techniques. They have done such a good job on this score that popular sentiment has been overwhelmingly behind proposals to outlaw brutality in meat processing.

Yet, every time the prospect began to look favorable, the humane slaughter proposal was filed and forgotten in committee and that was that for another two years.

Now a law has been passed—114-6 in the House, 30-1 in the Senate.

It requires all commercial meat packers in Ohio to render animals insensible before they are killed. Outlawed will be the poleax, throat-slitting and all inhumane methods. Gone will be the abject terror of animals struggling against violent death.

But — and once more we have an instance of legalism after the fact— meat processors in interstate commerce quit using inhumane slaughter methods years ago. Federal law stopped them. State laws are following federal law. Whether intrastate law now will follow interstate law is the question.

But the Ohio General Assembly merely has confirmed what federal law already had established as public policy for interstate commerce. It can claim no credit for the idea, only for catching up to an established practice.

Welcome!

The tour season is under way here again, with the city playing host today to a group from Garfield Heights.

It's once more a pleasure to have guests. We hope they enjoy their visit as much as we enjoy having them.

Groups such as these serve as unofficial ambassadors of good will. We invite them and the others to follow to drop back again. You're excellent company and the door's always open.

No Declaration Of War

U.S. combat troops are reportedly ready to go into direct action against the Viet Cong whenever and wherever needed. This will be a significant break in the image of the United States as a supplier and adviser in South Viet Nam's war against the Viet Cong.

It will put U.S. ground troops on the same para-belligerent footing as the Air Force pilots who have been dropping bombs on both the Viet Cong and targets inside North Viet Nam. It will put them on the same footing as the Navy forces that have taken hostile action against targets in offshore waters.

But most of all, it will put the United States openly on a war basis against a declared and cogent enemy. Up to now, the Viet Cong has made no secret that its "enemy" is the U.S. "adviser" and everything he represents. But up to now, the United States has preserved the figment that it is in Viet Nam only to help one group of Vietnamese against another group of Vietnamese seeking to dominate them by force.

South Korea has sent 2,000 troops to South Viet Nam in the same cause.

Australia has sent a battalion of infantry, in addition to an army training team and a flight of aircraft.

The Philippines House of Representatives voted 56-18 on May 12 to send 2,000 troops to South Viet Nam, in the form of an engineering battalion. Some 30 countries have provided assistance or have promised to do so, in both civilian and military roles.

But only the United States is being counted on to perform a major role both as supplier and combatant. Its role has quietly evolved from that of non-military adviser to full-fledged belligerent, never with a declaration of war.

Just Asking

By Truman Twill

Blessed be my memory of the man who was watching me file some papers one day and asked, "Why are you filing that stuff?"

"I am filing it because I want to keep it," I replied, irked by the implication of his question.

"Why do you want to keep it?" he persisted.

By this time I had a hot neck.

"Because I may need it," I snorted.

And he snorted, "Bosh!" and then and there I sensed he was right and ever since have made a point of not keeping things I used to want to keep because I might need them.

Some people cannot kick the weakness and herewith are appointed archivists of civilization, to serve out their lives in association with string savers, junk collectors and weird people whose living quarters contain mountains of rubbish when death finally opens the doors for investigation.

Periodically, I scour my personal domain for preliminary evidence of rubbish accumulation and get rid of it then and there, before it turns into a problem.

Everything that has not been in demand recently and shows no promise of being needed for an indefinite time is suspect. It gets the eye. And if no change of circumstances occurs, it is on its way to oblivion.

The same rule that applies to personal possessions applies double strength to rubbish that accumulates in offices and factories.

Everybody is afraid to get rid of this stuff because someone might second-guess his decision, so the rubbish accumulates year after year.

Filing cabinets overflow and the premises are piled head-high with artifacts of industrial obsolescence. Our country, which has been dubbed "God's Own Junk Yard," raises the question of how long it will be until relics of the past finally smother all current activity, turning America into a vast museum.

One of the most useful things that could come out of the era of rocketry is ability to load rockets with earth junk and shoot them into infinity, getting rid of the stuff once and for all.

If they could fuel the rocket with the junk by releasing the nuclear enegry locked up inside it, that would be better yet.

In the meantime, anyone can strike a blow for freedom by cleaning up his own domain.

How many things have not been used and are not likely to be used?

How much useless paper should be burned?

How much discarded furniture should be broken up and put out of its misery?

How many magazines and books never should have been kept around in the first place and now should be shoved into oblivion, to make breathing space for something useful?

How many articles of clothing should be cleaned out of drawers and closets?

I don't know. I'm just asking.

Labor Leaders Open '66 Vote Drive

Sitting in Congress today are a couple of ex-submarine commanders, three funeral directors, five ex-FBI agents, an inventor, a licensed auctioneer and almost 300 lawyers. There are also some teachers and writers.

Victor Riesel

But virtually no one has observed there are at least 40 labor men — who were officials or activists in unions ranging from Walter Reuther's Auto Union to the Asbestos Workers, from the Firemen and Oilers to the Teamsters, from the Bricklayers and Barbers to the Steelworkers.

Thus labor today has the second largest bloc in Congress — second only to the lawyers. There is a difference, however. The labor bloc is well organized and has a common bond and sometimes central direction.

The lawyers are in general political dissarry. They spread across both parties and weave through the liberal and conservative forces of these parties. But the union bloc is solidly in the liberal wing of the Democrats.

THESE LABOR MEN, who teethed on Robert's Rules of Order and who argued parliamentary tactics as youngsters in union halls, work hard and get ahead fast.

This is just the beginning for this bloc, some of whom were on picket lines in the last few years. They work hard and they'll work harder to be re-elected.

Furthermore, they and their labor allies already have launched the 1966 national campaign.

Hitting the hustings, for example, has been George Meany —Mr. Labor — leader of over 13 million unionists. For weeks he has been on the convention trail.

The other day we ran into him in New York. There was only one conservative touch of Mr. Labor when we heard him at a Utility Workers' convention. And that was his dark blue, subtly-plaid suit.

True, he assailed, to the delight of the cheering delegates, those liberals, intellectuals and university people who are not backing the President's policies in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic. But his speech had impact for other reasons as he spoke in the rip-roaring tones of almost forgotten labor evangelists.

HIS TALK had impact because Meany spoke frankly of labor's whirlwind political action, which he and the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education (COPE) have been whipping up in a series of speeches and political clinics across the country.

These speeches and meetings have not been fully reported. They should have been. What Meany has been outlining, and what COPE has been planning, will make the headlines of the coming political campaigns — right through the next presidential race.

"The ballot box is part of the trade union movement, and a very good part," Meany said.

"We have no political party. We do have a political machine and it is improving."

At the very same moment, labor's political director, Al Barkan, was in Boston directing a political action clinic. His concern now is the coming non-federal elections.

LABOR TAKES these seriously. There are at least 10 large communities now governed by labor mayors — all the way from Texas to California, Wisconsin and points east.

But COPE now has far more than city governments in mind.

"This year's state, county and municipal elections bear special significance as weathervanes for 1966," he said recently. In 1966 labor and liberal forces will face one of the stiffest political tests in history in off-year congressional elections. Control of Congress . . . will be at stake."

Then Barkan pointed out that ". . . in 1938, with Franklin Roosevelt in the White House, Democrats lost 71 House seats."

President Johnson's labor allies know how intense a student he is of the Roosevelt years. And neither he nor they want history to repeat itself.

That's why they've begun wrestling with tradition. They want to keep that congressional bloc growing.

Johnson Strategy Not Clear

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

From the time he took office in 1963 there was never any doutb about President Johnson's mastery in dealing with Congress where he had spent most of his mature life.

But the unknown part of him, and it's still unknown after his almost 18 months in office, was how he would do in foreign affairs where his experience was very meager.

He seemed decisive, although at this time it is not known whether he was more impulsive than decisive, in ordering the bombing of North Viet Nam and in sending Marines into the Dominican Republic.

The administration's strategy in both situations was not and still is not clear. Johnson gave some explanations for both but because of recent administration actions there are questions.

He ordered the bombing of North Viet Nam Feb. 7 and it continued without letup for more than three months, during which he called on the North Vietnamese Communists to discuss the war and how to end it. They ignored him.

Then suddenly seven days ago the bombing stopped. Reports indicate that Johnson through emissaries sought to get the North Vietnamese to talk business during the bombing lull. They still ignored him.

Tuesday the bombing was resumed. There is no evidence all the bombing has put even a small dent in the determination of the North Vietnamese to continue the war.

The question is: What does Johnson hope to accomplish with more bombing if after three months he can produce only silence from the Communists? Perhaps at this point the administration itself isn't sure where it goes from here.

Johnson has been widely criticized in this country, particularly in the colleges, for doing any bombing at all. He has been criticized abroad, perhaps as much out of puzzlement as out of aversion to the bombing.

When Johnson sent the Marines into the Dominican Republic it gradually became clear — since Johnson made several speeches before getting to the point — they were there to stop a Communist takeover.

Johnson assured the nation Communists were a definite menace and he sent in 22,000 Marines whose commanding officer, Lt. Gen. Bruce Palmer, said their stay was indefinite.

The Communists had to be among the rebels, not among the conservative army people and civilians which ran the country through an unelected junta after throwing out President Juan Bosch in 1963.

Last weekend Johnson sent a team of his top advisers to the republic and then it became known they had sought to get the junta to resign in order to reach a truce and understanding with the rebels. The junta said no.

Tuesday the administration sought to put pressure on the military leaders supporting the junta to cut loose. The military men, reportedly, also said no.

Tax Merry-Go-Round

By David Lawrence

Johnson Proposals Seen As Revenue Gamble

Evidently the "big cut" in income-tax rates for individuals and corporations enacted last year did not bring in enough revenue to wipe out the annual deficit of the federal government. So President Johnson now has decided on another cut — this time in excise taxes— which he hopes will stimulate a further expansion of business and result in increased income for businesses.

David Lawrence

The record thus far shows that for fiscal year 1965, ending on June 30, individual income taxes will bring in a total of slightly less than was collected in fiscal year 1964.

Corporation taxes have been estimated at $1.8 billion more, and the federal deficit was figured last January as likely to be $6.3 billion. The President in his message to Congress this week indicated, however, that receipts now are at a rate of $92.6 billion instead of the $91.2 billion in the January estimate. Even this improvement still means a deficit of approximately $4 billion.

Now the President is proposing a cut in excise taxes which will reduce Treasury receipts by approximately $4 billion. Will expansion of business bring in an increase in receipts of around $8 billion to offset the deficit?

It's a big gamble. If it doesn't succeed, the administration will find itself compelled to restore some of the income-tax rates for both individuals and corporations that have been reduced. Already it is planned to raise Social Security taxes to meet medical costs for the elderly.

THE ALTERNATIVE, of course, to a raising of income-tax rates generally is to continue larger and larger deficits. This involves a trend toward inflation, which means higher and higher prices due to the decrease in the purchasing power of the dollar.

Reliance on the removal of certain excise taxes and the enactment of increases in others is, however, the new policy of the administration which Congress is being asked to approve.

Everybody dislikes excise taxes, and hence there is apparently a wave of approval for President Johnson's proposal that such levies be removed in the next few years. It may be surprising to some people to learn that repeal of the excise taxes will not necessarily mean, in the long run, lower prices for the American consumers.

Excise taxes are unpopular in retail business because they are an "extra." The storekeeper doesn't like them and shares the vexation of the customer when, after the price of an article is quoted, the excise tax is then mentioned perhaps for the first time in some instances. In other cases, the excise tax already is included in the net price by the manufacturer. Even with the repeal of excise taxes, prices may go up somewhat. This may prove true in the case of tickets to some theaters.

NATURALLY, the sellers of goods wants to remove any possible impediment to sales. It may be questioned whether purchases have always been discouraged solely because of the current excise taxes.

The history of this form of taxation has shown that, after excise taxes imposed in wartime were repealed, the prices of the goods themselves were pushed upward on the theory that the public could stand some increase.

Prices have not gone up immediately, but in the long run they tend to exceed the previous price, even including the excise taxes. Labor unions, on seeing the increased business and profits for a brief period, promptly ask for higher wages, and the net result is that the public pays a bigger bill than was paid before, when the excise taxes were in effect.

There's another phase of the whole problem which is neglected in the general discussion. Income taxes would not have to be so high if excise taxes were handled equitably.

Theoretically, excise taxes are supposed to be heaviest on so-called "luxuries" but there is no reason why a graduated scale of excise taxes couldn't be applied which would bear less on what are really necessities than on luxury items.

POLITICALLY, of course, the removal of excise taxes is popular, and indeed there is pressure from businesses of various kinds to have all such levies repealed. The theory is that sales will immediately increase. But the real issue is how long the benefits will continue and what will happen when it is apparent that government receipts are inadequate and more taxes are needed.

Tax cuts in themselves are not a panacea. While business appears to be improved for a while, there are other developments which tend to produce a disequilibrium.

The irresponsible way in which first wages and then prices rise in the national economy is perhaps more than any other factor the influence that affects the ups and downs of sales.

It's to be noted that the pressure for repeal of the excise taxes has come at the very time when business is thriving and national income is at a record high.

But his speech had impact for other reasons as he spoke in the rip-roaring tones of almost forgotten labor evangelists.

HIS TALK had impact because Meany spoke frankly of labor's whirlwind political action, which he and the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education (COPE) have been whipping up in a series of speeches and political clinics across the country.

These speeches and meetings have not been fully reported. They should have been. What Meany has been outlining, and what COPE has been planning, will make the headlines of the coming political campaigns — right through the next presidential race.

"The ballot box is part of the trade union movement, and a very good part," Meany said.

"We have no political party. We do have a political machine and it is improving."

At the very same moment, labor's political director, Al Barkan, was in Boston directing a political action clinic. His concern now is the coming non-federal elections.

LABOR TAKES these seriously. There are at least 10 large communities now governed by labor mayors — all the way from Texas to California, Wisconsin and points east.

But COPE now has far more than city governments in mind.

"This year's state, county and municipal elections bear special significance as weathervanes for 1966," he said recently. In 1966 labor and liberal forces will face one of the stiffest political tests in history in off-year congressional elections. Control of Congress . . . will be at stake."

Then Barkan pointed out that ". . . in 1938, with Franklin Roosevelt in the White House, Democrats lost 71 House seats."

President Johnson's labor allies know how intense a student he is of the Roosevelt years. And neither he nor they want history to repeat itself.

That's why they've begun wrestling with tradition. They want to keep that congressional bloc growing.

Johnson Strategy Not Clear

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

From the time he took office in 1963 there was never any doutb about President Johnson's mastery in dealing with Congress where he had spent most of his mature life.

But the unknown part of him, and it's still unknown after his almost 18 months in office, was how he would do in foreign affairs where his experience was very meager.

He seemed decisive, although at this time it is not known whether he was more impulsive than decisive, in ordering the bombing of North Viet Nam and in sending Marines into the Dominican Republic.

The administration's strategy in both situations was not and still is not clear. Johnson gave some explanations for both but because of recent administration actions there are questions.

He ordered the bombing of North Viet Nam Feb. 7 and it continued without letup for more than three months, during which he called on the North Vietnamese Communists to discuss the war and how to end it. They ignored him.

Then suddenly seven days ago the bombing stopped. Reports indicate that Johnson through emissaries sought to get the North Vietnamese to talk business during the bombing lull. They still ignored him.

Tuesday the bombing was resumed. There is no evidence all the bombing has put even a small dent in the determination of the North Vietnamese to continue the war.

The question is: What does Johnson hope to accomplish with more bombing if after three months he can produce only silence from the Communists? Perhaps at this point the administration itself isn't sure where it goes from here.

Johnson has been widely criticized in this country, particularly in the colleges, for doing any bombing at all. He has been criticized abroad, perhaps as much out of puzzlement as out of aversion to the bombing.

When Johnson sent the Marines into the Dominican Republic it gradually became clear — since Johnson made several speeches before getting to the point — they were there to stop a Communist takeover.

Johnson assured the nation Communists were a definite menace and he sent in 22,000 Marines whose commanding officer, Lt. Gen. Bruce Palmer, said their stay was indefinite.

The Communists had to be among the rebels, not among the conservative army people and civilians which ran the country through an unelected junta after throwing out President Juan Bosch in 1963.

Last weekend Johnson sent a team of his top advisers to the republic and then it became known they had sought to get the junta to resign in order to reach a truce and understanding with the rebels. The junta said no.

Tuesday the administration sought to put pressure on the military leaders supporting the junta to cut loose. The military men, reportedly, also said no.

Tax Merry-Go-Round

By David Lawrence

Johnson Proposals Seen As Revenue Gamble

Evidently the "big cut" in income-tax rates for individuals and corporations enacted last year did not bring in enough revenue to wipe out the annual deficit of the federal government. So President Johnson now has decided on another cut — this time in excise taxes— which he hopes will stimulate a further expansion of business and result in increased income for businesses.

David Lawrence

The record thus far shows that for fiscal year 1965, ending on June 30, individual income taxes will bring in a total of slightly less than was collected in fiscal year 1964.

Corporation taxes have been estimated at $1.8 billion more, and the federal deficit was figured last January as likely to be $6.3 billion. The President in his message to Congress this week indicated, however, that receipts now are at a rate of $92.6 billion instead of the $91.2 billion in the January estimate. Even this improvement still means a deficit of approximately $4 billion.

Now the President is proposing a cut in excise taxes which will reduce Treasury receipts by approximately $4 billion. Will expansion of business bring in an increase in receipts of around $8 billion to offset the deficit?

It's a big gamble. If it doesn't succeed, the administration will find itself compelled to restore some of the income-tax rates for both individuals and corporations that have been reduced. Already it is planned to raise Social Security taxes to meet medical costs for the elderly.

THE ALTERNATIVE, of course, to a raising of income-tax rates generally is to continue larger and larger deficits. This involves a trend toward inflation, which means higher and higher prices due to the decrease in the purchasing power of the dollar.

Reliance on the removal of certain excise taxes and the enactment of increases in others is, however, the new policy of the administration which Congress is being asked to approve.

Everybody dislikes excise taxes, and hence there is apparently a wave of approval for President Johnson's proposal that such levies be removed in the next few years. It may be surprising to some people to learn that repeal of the excise taxes will not necessarily mean, in the long run, lower prices for the American consumers.

Excise taxes are unpopular in retail business because they are an "extra." The storekeeper doesn't like them and shares the vexation of the customer when, after the price of an article is quoted, the excise tax is then mentioned perhaps for the first time in some instances. In other cases, the excise tax already is included in the net price by the manufacturer. Even with the repeal of excise taxes, prices may go up somewhat. This may prove true in the case of tickets to some theaters.

NATURALLY, the sellers of goods wants to remove any possible impediment to sales. It may be questioned whether purchases have always been discouraged solely because of the current excise taxes.

The history of this form of taxation has shown that, after excise taxes imposed in wartime were repealed, the prices of the goods themselves were pushed upward on the theory that the public could stand some increase.

Prices have not gone up immediately, but in the long run they tend to exceed the previous price, even including the excise taxes. Labor unions, on seeing the increased business and profits for a brief period, promptly ask for higher wages, and the net result is that the public pays a bigger bill than was paid before, when the excise taxes were in effect.

There's another phase of the whole problem which is neglected in the general discussion. Income taxes would not have to be so high if excise taxes were handled equitably.

Theoretically, excise taxes are supposed to be heaviest on so-called "luxuries" but there is no reason why a graduated scale of excise taxes couldn't be applied which would bear less on what are really necessities than on luxury items.

POLITICALLY, of course, the removal of excise taxes is popular, and indeed there is pressure from businesses of various kinds to have all such levies repealed. The theory is that sales will immediately increase. But the real issue is how long the benefits will continue and what will happen when it is apparent that government receipts are inadequate and more taxes are needed.

Tax cuts in themselves are not a panacea. While business appears to be improved for a while, there are other developments which tend to produce a disequilibrium.

The irresponsible way in which first wages and then prices rise in the national economy is perhaps more than any other factor the influence that affects the ups and downs of sales.

It's to be noted that the pressure for repeal of the excise taxes has come at the very time when business is thriving and national income is at a record high.

Hearing Carried Into June On Lisbon Freight Office

LISBON — The public hearing into the closing of the Lisbon freight office of the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad has been continued, with resumption expected some time in June.

The Ohio Public Utilities Commission took the action Tuesday after hearing testimony from three witnesses for the railroad.

Atty. D. F. Donovan of Cleveland represented the railroad, which has petitioned to close the station, and Prosecutor J. Warren Bettis, Atty. Lynn Riddle and Atty. Charles Pike represented the village. More than 25 others attended the two-hour session.

Lloyd Carter, assistant superintendent of the Mahoning Division of the railroad; John Steines, general agent, and Harry Zilli, assistant accountant, all of the Youngstown area, testified yesterday.

They termed the closing necessary because of lack of revenue and declared the railroad could provide as good service from its Niles office as that now being offered.

They reported that the present hauling is made up of about 89 per cent coal, with the remainder in farm products. Two local companies, Industrial and Buckeye, comprise 87 per cent of the subscribers to services in the coal field, they said.

Bettis cross - examined the witnesses and was granted permission to be allowed to call all the company's witnesses at the next hearing if he so wishes.

He said that the opponents of the closing will present at least 10 witnesses, along with exhibits. The company entered eight exhibits Tuesday.

Glenmoor PTA Ends Term With Officers' Installation

Installation of officers featured the closing meeting of the 1964-65 term of the Glenmoor Parent - Teacher Association Tuesday night.

Richard Mattern, retiring president, presided.

Installed by Miss Elizabeth Coleman, principal, were: Mrs. Marcellene Adkins, president; Mrs. Cathy Cloran, vice president; Mrs. Velma Jackson, secretary, and Mrs. Doris Thompson, treasurer.

Miss Coleman named committee chairmen for the new term — Richard Wolfe, playground; Mrs. Helen Christen, program; Mrs. Carol Cunningham, membership, and Mrs. Vera Kirkbride, homeroom.

Mattern appointed a four-member auditing committee—Mrs. Nadine Muscari, Mrs. Evelyene Badger, Mrs. Lillie Belle Leonard and Mrs. Adkins.

Mattern, who is a member of the County Regional Planning Board, spoke briefly. He also thanked officers who served with him the past year.

Lunch was served by the second-grade homeroom mothers, with Mrs. Betty Heald in charge.

Hearing Carried Into June On Lisbon Freight Office

LISBON — The public hearing into the closing of the Lisbon freight office of the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad has been continued, with resumption expected some time in June.

The Ohio Public Utilities Commission took the action Tuesday after hearing testimony from three witnesses for the railroad.

Atty. D. F. Donovan of Cleveland represented the railroad, which has petitioned to close the station, and Prosecutor J. Warren Bettis, Atty. Lynn Riddle and Atty. Charles Pike represented the village. More than 25 others attended the two-hour session.

Lloyd Carter, assistant superintendent of the Mahoning Division of the railroad; John Steines, general agent, and Harry Zilli, assistant accountant, all of the Youngstown area, testified yesterday.

They termed the closing necessary because of lack of revenue and declared the railroad could provide as good service from its Niles office as that now being offered.

They reported that the present hauling is made up of about 89 per cent coal, with the remainder in farm products. Two local companies, Industrial and Buckeye, comprise 87 per cent of the subscribers to services in the coal field, they said.

Bettis cross - examined the witnesses and was granted permission to be allowed to call all the company's witnesses at the next hearing if he so wishes.

He said that the opponents of the closing will present at least 10 witnesses, along with exhibits. The company entered eight exhibits Tuesday.

Glenmoor PTA Ends Term With Officers' Installation

Installation of officers featured the closing meeting of the 1964-65 term of the Glenmoor Parent - Teacher Association Tuesday night.

Richard Mattern, retiring president, presided.

Installed by Miss Elizabeth Coleman, principal, were: Mrs. Marcellene Adkins, president; Mrs. Cathy Cloran, vice president; Mrs. Velma Jackson, secretary, and Mrs. Doris Thompson, treasurer.

Miss Coleman named committee chairmen for the new term — Richard Wolfe, playground; Mrs. Helen Christen, program; Mrs. Carol Cunningham, membership, and Mrs. Vera Kirkbride, homeroom.

Mattern appointed a four-member auditing committee—Mrs. Nadine Muscari, Mrs. Evelyene Badger, Mrs. Lillie Belle Leonard and Mrs. Adkins.

Mattern, who is a member of the County Regional Planning Board, spoke briefly. He also thanked officers who served with him the past year.

Lunch was served by the second-grade homeroom mothers, with Mrs. Betty Heald in charge.

Committees Appointed For Teachers' Group

They include: Mrs. Margaret Thompson, membership; David Wern, mutual service; Donald Adams, nominations; Mrs. Lillie Belle Leonard, finance; Mrs. Donna Campbell, retired teachers; Tony LaNeve, publicity; Jerry Russell, credit union; Dean Forsythe, auditing; Mrs. Gyla Nicely, social; Mrs. Virginia Futhey, classroom teachers; Mrs. Marie Graham, teacher education and professional standards, and Jack Wilson, citizenship. Monday night's stand by the association at its meeting with the school board was discussed and its aims reiterated. The directors agreed to plan and promote its objectives with the board on salary increases. They renewed their pledge to further teacher welfare.

Members present in addition to Moore, were LaNeve, president - elect; William Wilson, vice president; Mrs. Mary Wolrath, recording secretary; Mrs. Campbell, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Leonard, treasurer, and Wern, Adams, Mrs. Nicely, Mrs. Thompson and Wilbur Wolf, members - at - large. Turncoat And 2 Others Sought In Hospital Escape

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Authorities looked today for Korean War turncoat Lowell D. Skinner, who walked away from Hawthornden State Hospital in Northfield Tuesday.

Officials at the mental insitution said Skinner and two other men left separately Tuesday but authorities believe they now are together.

The others are Robert Freyman, 30, of Akron, and John McClure, 29, of Wooster.

The 34-year-old Skinner, who chose to remain in Communist China for 10 years after his capture in the Korean War, was reported seen in Akron with two men in a car Tuesday night.

Skinner was ordered to Hawthornden for an indefinite period in February by two judges acting on a recommendation by three psychiarists.

Skinner was dishonorably discharged from the army. Since returning to this country in August, 1963, he has had several scrapes with the law.

A year ago he was placed on two years' probation for assault with a deadly weapon in a shooting incident in which he allegedly fired at two youths in a woman friend's apartment.

Board To List Vote Changes

The County Election Board staff is completing work on apportionment of costs for the primary and special elections on May 4 which will be charged back to the subdivisions concerned, Clerk Frank R. O'Hanlon said today.

The charges will be certified to County Auditor Kenneth Bell at Lisbon for withholding from the subdivisions' next tax settlements, O'Hanlon explained. The subdivisions also will be notified of the board's estimates of the amounts to be withheld.

In the case of a primary election, the subdivision will pay the entire bill. For those which held only special elections, covering special issues, the charges will cover ballots and the cost of legal advertising.

Columbiana County will foot the bill for a vote on four amendments to the Ohio Constitution and two countywide levies.

Meanwhile, two more local candidates have filed sworn statements of their primary campaign costs, complying with the "Corrupt Practices Act."

Paul Shingler, unsuccessful candidate for the Republican nomination for Third Ward councliman, listed expenditures of $14. Dennis H. Smith, defeated in a bid for the GOP nomination for Second Ward councilman, said he spent $83.

The Lisbon Exempted Village Board of Education said it spent nothing promoting a 4-mill levy. The report was filed by Henry Dawes, clerk - treasurer.

Two Wellsville mayoralty candidates also filed the reports. Mrs. Mary Rahter, Council president, said she spent nothing on an unsuccessful campaign for the Democratic nomination. William S. Robinson, unopposed for the GOP nomination, also reported no expenses.

Could Be In Political Crossfire

Johnson Faces Congress Fight Over Labor Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's proposals for new labor legislation — including repeal of a provision of the Taft Hartley Act — may lock him in a rough battle with Congress. At least the signs point that way.

The President could be caught in a political crossfire between those who think he is asking too much and those who want more.

Johnson asked Congress Tuesday for legislation extending coverage of the minimum wage to 4.5 million workers, requiring payment of double time for some overtime, providing federal benefits for the long-time unemployed and repealing section 14B of the Taft Hartley Act.

That's the section that permits states to outlaw the union shop in collective bargaining agreements. Nineteen states have such laws.

Organized labor has made repeal of 14B its No. 1 political goal, and it can't be too happy over the way Johnson made the request to Congress.

He used hundreds of words arguing for his minimum wage, double time and unemployment insurance proposals, but devoted only the last sentence of his message to 14B. He was recommending its repeal, he said, "with the hope of reducing conflict in our national labor policy."

Any such reduction will come only after greatly increased conflict in Congress, particularly the Senate. If anything can revive the Republican-Southern Democrat coalition that civil rights legislation has sundered, it is a proposal to repeal 14B.

Ten of the 19 states with laws banning the union shop are in the South. The rest are in Republican strongholds in the West and Midwest. Although labor strategists claim a bare majority of the Senate in favor of repeal, getting the bill to a vote over the determined opposition of such a sizable opposition is bound to be extremely difficult.

In the House, with its big Democratic majority and its debate-limiting rules, victory is more likely. "But Johnson is going to have to get in and fight if he really wants it," said a Democrat who will have to help handle the bill.

The prospect for Johnson's other proposals is not much better. Congress showed no enthusiasm for the double-time or minimum-wage-extension provisions last year, and bills for federal unemployment insurance standards have a long history of failure.

cations determined, along with a complete mapping of the system. He said the antenna site has been purchased and all work has been done in the name of Rego Industries.

Fisher denied a report that Rego had sold some of its interests to another firm. Coffee later commented that local contracts have been made to offer to sell stock in the firm. This was done so some local control would be present in the firm, he added.

When asked what effect it would have on Rego if Council grants another franchise, Coffee said it would put the firm in the position of "throwing in our hand" or having to sign an agreement with the telephone company for installation of a system.

He said he was told by an Ohio Bell representative that the utility has not entered into a contract with any firm to build such a system.

Coffee said he wants to meet with both East Liverpool and Wellsville Councils in a joint session to present a proposal for paying the city for the franchise. He termed this an "ace in the hole."

He pointed out no mention was made of this previously, but that he now is ready to discuss rates with the councils.

Todd asked if the deed for the antenna site had been filed in Lisbon by Rego. Brokaw said one deed is recorded. He said he did not want to divulge the location at this time, as the firm is attempting to obtain another piece of property.

Driver Pays $10 In Patrol Arrest

Percy E. Garman, 63, of 505 Clark St., Toronto, was fined $10 and costs today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff when he pleaded guilty to a State Highway Patrol charge of passing another vehicle on the approach to a curve Wednesday night on Routes 7 and 30 near Substation.

Kenneth E. Wassam, 609 Palissey St., was ordered to pay the $7.50 court costs in a case in which he was charged with illegal auto registration. Wassam was cited at 11:06 a. m. Tuesday on Pennsylvania Ave. by Patrolman Orin C. Smith, who said the defendant was driving an auto with a temporary tag that expired May 6.

Robert C. Laughlin of Glenmoor is due for a hearing Tuesday at 9 a. m. on a charge of driving a truck with a 3,560-pound overload. He was cited Tuesday at 5:30 p.m. on Route 7, the patrol said.

Insurance Program Changed

Chester Council's Action Averts City Hall's Closing

Chester City Council Tuesday night approved cancellation of the existing city insurance policy and adoption of a new policy offering lower premium rates.

By taking the action, Council avoided the necessity of closing the second floor of City Hall to all public gatherings until extensive modifications could be completed, as would be required in conditions set forth in a letter May 4 by the Insurance Company of North America, which has been taking care of the insurance.

The letter stated that an alternate exit must be provided and that an emergency lighting system be installed if use of the room on the second floor for large public gatherings were to be continued.

It listed other necessary repairs and additions to City Hall, the surrounding sidewalks and other city property, and said further that the improvements must be completed by June 15, when another inspection would be conducted.

Council voted to accept the insurance program presented at last night's meeting by the E.G. Jackson Insurance Agency. Jackson was present to explain the policy and to answer questions.

A motion then was passed to keep the second floor of the City Hall available for public group meetings, eliminating the need to close the large room to public gatherings effective May 31.

In other action, Council approved the bid of Wimmer Motor Sales of East Liverpool for the purchase of an all - purpose truck for the street department. The bid, which represented the full price less the trade - in allotment for the old truck, amounted to $4,156.

The annual "Citywide Cleanup Week," which began May 10 and continued through Monday, was termed a success.

A letter from the West Virginia Department of Motor Vehicles in Charleston was read by Richard Johnston, acting city clerk in the absence of Roy Cashdollar. It stated that a new law regarding operator and chauffeur licenses had been passed and the department recommended that the city of Chester bring the new law into force. Council passed a motion to adopt the changes.

A motion was passed to grant the mayor permission to select and bond all extra police patrolmen.

Arrangement for vacation replacements were discussed.

Prior to the meeting, Council members made an inspection tour of city streets to study resurfacing needs.

Bills in the amount of $1,799.29 were ordered paid.

Mayor Harry Abrams was among those attending the meeting.

Probation Given To Weirton Man

NEW CUMBERLAND—Nicholas Zoellars, 25, of Weirton was given a suspended sentence of 1 to 10 years in the West Virginia penitentiary Tuesday by Judge Ralph Pryor of Wellsburg in Circuit Court.

Zoellars changed his original plea of not guilty to one of guilty in appearing at yesterday's session.

Indicted by the grand jury April 13, and arraigned April 22, he was charged with breaking and entering a service station at Pennsylvania Ave. and 13th St. in Weirton and stealing $114.27 in company with Dallas Truax, 25, also of Weirton. Truax is scheduled for trial June 1.

In suspending the sentence, Judge Pryor placed Zoellars on five years probation. Thomas D. Hagg, Weirton attorney, represented Zoellars.

Youth, 17, Killed As Car Explodes

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP) — Michael Ruggiero, 17-year-old son of a coal company employe, was killed when the family car blew up as he tried to start it near a voting place.

The police said the father, Joseph, a Democratic judge of elections in a northeastern ward, had parked the car a half block from the polling place.

A couple of hours later, the son went to get the car and take his mother shopping. When he turned on the ignition the automobile exploded.

The blast shattered windows in nearby homes and shops, splintered street lights, and ripped down power and telephone lines.

The Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. said service to 3,500 of its consumers was disrupted. The car had been parked under one of its main power lines.

The police said they had been unable to determine what explosives were used or to uncover any motive.

Bettis nolled the charges because the defendants could not be located.

Could Be In Political Crossfire

Johnson Faces Congress Fight Over Labor Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's proposals for new labor legislation — including repeal of a provision of the Taft Hartley Act — may lock him in a rough battle with Congress. At least the signs point that way.

The President could be caught in a political crossfire between those who think he is asking too much and those who want more.

Johnson asked Congress Tuesday for legislation extending coverage of the minimum wage to 4.5 million workers, requiring payment of double time for some overtime, providing federal benefits for the long-time unemployed and repealing section 14B of the Taft Hartley Act.

That's the section that permits states to outlaw the union shop in collective bargaining agreements. Nineteen states have such laws.

Organized labor has made repeal of 14B its No. 1 political goal, and it can't be too happy over the way Johnson made the request to Congress.

He used hundreds of words arguing for his minimum wage, double time and unemployment insurance proposals, but devoted only the last sentence of his message to 14B. He was recommending its repeal, he said, "with the hope of reducing conflict in our national labor policy."

Any such reduction will come only after greatly increased conflict in Congress, particularly the Senate. If anything can revive the Republican-Southern Democrat coalition that civil rights legislation has sundered, it is a proposal to repeal 14B.

Ten of the 19 states with laws banning the union shop are in the South. The rest are in Republican strongholds in the West and Midwest. Although labor strategists claim a bare majority of the Senate in favor of repeal, getting the bill to a vote over the determined opposition of such a sizable opposition is bound to be extremely difficult.

In the House, with its big Democratic majority and its debate-limiting rules, victory is more likely. "But Johnson is going to have to get in and fight if he really wants it," said a Democrat who will have to help handle the bill.

The prospect for Johnson's other proposals is not much better. Congress showed no enthusiasm for the double-time or minimum-wage-extension provisions last year, and bills for federal unemployment insurance standards have a long history of failure.

cations determined, along with a complete mapping of the system. He said the antenna site has been purchased and all work has been done in the name of Rego Industries.

Fisher denied a report that Rego had sold some of its interests to another firm. Coffee later commented that local contracts have been made to offer to sell stock in the firm. This was done so some local control would be present in the firm, he added.

When asked what effect it would have on Rego if Council grants another franchise, Coffee said it would put the firm in the position of "throwing in our hand" or having to sign an agreement with the telephone company for installation of a system.

He said he was told by an Ohio Bell representative that the utility has not entered into a contract with any firm to build such a system.

Coffee said he wants to meet with both East Liverpool and Wellsville Councils in a joint session to present a proposal for paying the city for the franchise. He termed this an "ace in the hole."

He pointed out no mention was made of this previously, but that he now is ready to discuss rates with the councils.

Todd asked if the deed for the antenna site had been filed in Lisbon by Rego. Brokaw said one deed is recorded. He said he did not want to divulge the location at this time, as the firm is attempting to obtain another piece of property.

Driver Pays $10 In Patrol Arrest

Percy E. Garman, 63, of 505 Clark St., Toronto, was fined $10 and costs today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff when he pleaded guilty to a State Highway Patrol charge of passing another vehicle on the approach to a curve Wednesday night on Routes 7 and 30 near Substation.

Kenneth E. Wassam, 609 Palissey St., was ordered to pay the $7.50 court costs in a case in which he was charged with illegal auto registration. Wassam was cited at 11:06 a. m. Tuesday on Pennsylvania Ave. by Patrolman Orin C. Smith, who said the defendant was driving an auto with a temporary tag that expired May 6.

Robert C. Laughlin of Glenmoor is due for a hearing Tuesday at 9 a. m. on a charge of driving a truck with a 3,560-pound overload. He was cited Tuesday at 5:30 p.m. on Route 7, the patrol said.

Insurance Program Changed

Chester Council's Action Averts City Hall's Closing

Chester City Council Tuesday night approved cancellation of the existing city insurance policy and adoption of a new policy offering lower premium rates.

By taking the action, Council avoided the necessity of closing the second floor of City Hall to all public gatherings until extensive modifications could be completed, as would be required in conditions set forth in a letter May 4 by the Insurance Company of North America, which has been taking care of the insurance.

The letter stated that an alternate exit must be provided and that an emergency lighting system be installed if use of the room on the second floor for large public gatherings were to be continued.

It listed other necessary repairs and additions to City Hall, the surrounding sidewalks and other city property, and said further that the improvements must be completed by June 15, when another inspection would be conducted.

Council voted to accept the insurance program presented at last night's meeting by the E.G. Jackson Insurance Agency. Jackson was present to explain the policy and to answer questions.

A motion then was passed to keep the second floor of the City Hall available for public group meetings, eliminating the need to close the large room to public gatherings effective May 31.

In other action, Council approved the bid of Wimmer Motor Sales of East Liverpool for the purchase of an all - purpose truck for the street department. The bid, which represented the full price less the trade - in allotment for the old truck, amounted to $4,156.

The annual "Citywide Clean-up Week," which began May 10 and continued through Monday, was termed a success.

A letter from the West Virginia Department of Motor Vehicles in Charleston was read by Richard Johnston, acting city clerk in the absence of Roy Cashdollar. It stated that a new law regarding operator and chauffeur licenses had been passed and the department recommended that the city of Chester bring the new law into force. Council passed a motion to adopt the changes.

A motion was passed to grant the mayor permission to select and bond all extra police patrolmen.

Arrangement for vacation replacements were discussed.

Prior to the meeting, Council members made an inspection tour of city streets to study resurfacing needs.

Bills in the amount of $1,799.29 were ordered paid.

Mayor Harry Abrams was among those attending the meeting.

Meters

about 400 1947 model meters. The first series of bids received March 8 also was rejected by the board.

Council's resolution authorizing the mayor and director to call for bids and enter into a contract limited the bidding to automatic meters.

In both the March 8 and the April 15 bidding, the Board of Control received substantially the same bids from the same two concerns.

They are the Karpark Corp. of Starkville, Miss., low both times with a net price of $46.10 on its Unimatic meters, and the Rockwell Manufacturing Co. of Pittsburgh, which placed second both times with a net quotation of $52 on its Park-O-Meters.

In the April 15 bidding, the mayor and director also received two bids from companies which manufacture manual meters. They said the offers could not be considered because the Council legislative authority limited the board to buying an automatic type.

When the first round of bids was opened March 8, the mayor and director indicated they favored the Unimatic meter. However, the Mississippi concern's bid could not be accepted because it enclosed the wrong type of surety to guarantee it would enter into a contract if its bid was accepted. The administration then called for the second series of bids to allow Karpark to submit an offer that could be accepted.

In the first bidding, Karpark enclosed a cashier's check as a surety, rather than a certified check, as stipulated in the city's specifications.

"I don't think the city can get a fair deal by considering only the two automatic types," Vodrey commented today. "I think the bidding should be opened up to both automatics and manuals."

Vodrey said he is convinced from his investigations that the manual meters "are a lot less complicated" than the automatic types. He said the automatics "have dozens more parts than the manuals."

The so-called automatic type is key-wound by city employes. It registers time as soon as a motorists inserts a coin. In the manual type, the parker is required to turn a handle to activate the mechanism after inserting the coin.

Council stipulated purchase of automatic type meters on recommendation of its planning committee. The committee, headed by Councilman William E. Davis, was assigned to investigate the question of meters before the legislation was presented.

The mayor and director also pointed out today that Council's legislation stipulated six alternative methods in which the city could pay for the meters.

Council recommended use of the so-called "excess revenue" method. In that method, the city pays to the manufacturer a sum representing the difference between the monthly revenue after the meters are installed, as compared to the receipts in the corresponding month of the preceding year.

For instance, if the revenue in July 1965 was $2,500 and the income in July 1964 was $2,000, the manufacturer would be paid $500, representing the difference. Council said it did not feel the city should pay cash for the meters, because it would deplete the general operating fund.

Rockwell agreed to the "excess revenue" method in its April bid, but the Mississippi firm did not.

When the March bids were opened, it was believed generally that Rockwell was the only U. S. manufacturer of the automatic types. The filing of bids on March 8 from a second manufacturer of automatics came as a surprise to the administration, Council and even some meter salesmen.

When rejecting the original round of bids filed March 8, the mayor and director said they had investigated Karpark meters' performances in other cities in Ohio and Indiana and found that officials were satisfied with the devices. But Councilman James Cunningham read newspaper clippings at a Council meeting in mid-April criticizing the Karpark meters for malfunctions in wet or cold weather.

St. Clair Ave. Paving Will Begin Thursday

Herman Brothers, Inc., of Youngstown, contractor, will pour the first concrete Thursday for St. Clair Ave.'s new 36-foot pavement, starting at the north end of the project at Cartwright St.

A definite time has not been set, but the first concrete probably will be poured tomorrow morning. The eastern 18 feet of the pavement will be poured first. The work will proceed south to the end of the project at Princeton Ave.

Approximately 1,000 to 1,500 feet of the pavement will be poured daily. The project extends 1.56 miles. Project supervisors said traffic still is a deterrent to rapid progress on the job and asked motorists to stay off the stretch unless the trip is "absolutely necessary."

Father, Son Saved After Month At Sea

MANILA (AP) — An American and his son, given up for lost after their raft drifted away from Guam, have been rescued 1,400 miles from home after 32 days at sea.

Frank H. Cushing, 63, a former aviation stuntman, and Frank Jr., 20 were sighted by a police patrol boat Monday off Camiguin Island, north of the main Philippine island of Luzon. Police at first thought they were smugglers.

The Cushings were on a 20-foot raft made of oil drums, using an improvised sail made of a blanket and parachute cloth.

The constabulary's northern zone headquarters reported that both were well, that their clothes were intact despite their ordeal, and that they still had some provisions.

The two men, who live on Guam, told their rescuers they were searching reefs around Guam for rare fish for young Frank's collection. They anchored off Puto Point on the night of April 15. While they slept, strong currents pulled the raft out to sea.

They woke to find themselves lost.

The U.S. Navy made a search but couldn't find them.

The Cushings drifted all the way to the Philippines over one of the world's most deserted stretches of ocean. The raft was making about 3 knots when it was sighted.

Cushing's wife, Marjorie, had written to the Manila Times appealing for help in finding her missing men. Today the paper's publisher, Joaquin P. Roces, cabled her: "Your husband and son in good health, now on way Manila."

Cushing formerly lived in the Philippines and is well known here. His brother, the late Col. James Cushing, was a guerrilla leader against the Japanese here in World War II.

Jury Returns Verdict In Favor Of City Man

LISBON — A Common Pleas Court jury late Tuesday afternoon returned a verdict for the defendant, Arcena Sayre Wilson of 813 Burford St., East Liverpool, in a $1,485.42 suit for damages filed by Eazor Express Inc., East Liverpool.

The company claimed that Wilson was driving its leased truck when it upset, and the steel load had to be returned to Midland at a cost of $1,485.42.

The defendant claimed the company was supposed to have the load insured, and he was not liable for the damages.

The jury was:

Poll Tax

beating down the attempt to ban the poll tax.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach and some strong supporters of the measure have said to outlaw state poll taxes by statute could be unconstitutional. They proposed instead that the voting bill provide for a quick court test of the tax.

The amendment for a congressional declaration is sponsored by Sens. Mike Mansfield and Everett M. Dirksen, the Democratic and Republican leaders.

It would declare the constitutional right to vote is denied or abridged in certain states by making poll-tax payments a condition to vote. Voting on the amendment was expected in midafternoon and despite some stormy vocal criticism, it appeared certain of adoption.

Meanwhile, Rep. William M. McCulloch of Ohio, ranking Republican on the House Judiciary Committee, said the way the bill now stands it could produce illegal ballots that might sow the seeds of revolution in the United States.

McCulloch is backing a voting measure generally in line with one proposed by House Republican leaders. This would guarantee voting rights anywhere in the nation where qualified people have been kept from casting a ballot by racial discrimination, he said.

"It has no tricky triggering provision," McCulloch asserted.

He also claimed it would make sure only legal ballots are counted in an election. The administration's bill, he said, would not. He is concerned some voters might be challenged on grounds of residency or other technicalities after having been registered by federal registrars.

Without legislative safeguards to make sure only qualified people vote, McCulloch said the way would be open for election of officials — even a president — by votes which later could prove invlaid.

Chief feature of the voting-rights bill is provision for the suspension of literacy tests and the appointment of federal registrars in wide areas of the South, but much of the debate has swirled around the poll-tax issue.

Meters

about 400 1947 model meters. The first series of bids received March 8 also was rejected by the board.

Council's resolution authorizing the mayor and director to call for bids and enter into a contract limited the bidding to automatic meters.

In both the March 8 and the April 15 bidding, the Board of Control received substantially the same bids from the same two concerns.

They are the Karpark Corp. of Starkville, Miss., low both times with a net price of $46.10 on its Unimatic meters, and the Rockwell Manufacturing Co. of Pittsburgh, which placed second both times with a net quotation of $52 on its Park-O-Meters.

In the April 15 bidding, the mayor and director also received two bids from companies which manufacture manual meters. They said the offers could not be considered because the Council legislative authority limited the board to buying an automatic type.

When the first round of bids was opened March 8, the mayor and director indicated they favored the Unimatic meter. However, the Mississippi concern's bid could not be accepted because it enclosed the wrong type of surety to guarantee it would enter into a contract if its bid was accepted. The administration then called for the second series of bids to allow Karpark to submit an offer that could be accepted.

In the first bidding, Karpark enclosed a cashier's check as a surety, rather than a certified check, as stipulated in the city's specifications.

"I don't think the city can get a fair deal by considering only the two automatic types," Vodrey commented today. "I think the bidding should be opened up to both automatics and manuals."

Vodrey said he is convinced from his investigations that the manual meters "are a lot less complicated" than the automatic types. He said the automatics "have dozens more parts than the manuals."

The so-called automatic type is key-wound by city employes. It registers time as soon as a motorists inserts a coin. In the manual type, the parker is required to turn a handle to activate the mechanism after inserting the coin.

Council stipulated purchase of automatic type meters on recommendation of its planning committee. The committee, headed by Councilman William E. Davis, was assigned to investigate the question of meters before the legislation was presented.

The mayor and director also pointed out today that Council's legislation stipulated six alternative methods in which the city could pay for the meters.

Council recommended use of the so-called "excess revenue" method. In that method, the city pays to the manufacturer a sum representing the difference between the monthly revenue after the meters are installed, as compared to the receipts in the corresponding month of the preceding year.

For instance, if the revenue in July 1965 was $2,500 and the income in July 1964 was $2,000, the manufacturer would be paid $500, representing the difference. Council said it did not feel the city should pay cash for the meters, because it would deplete the general operating fund.

Rockwell agreed to the "excess revenue" method in its April bid, but the Mississippi firm did not.

When the March bids were opened, it was believed generally that Rockwell was the only U. S. manufacturer of the automatic types. The filing of bids on March 8 from a second manufacturer of automatics came as a surprise to the administration, Council and even some meter salesmen.

When rejecting the original round of bids filed March 8, the mayor and director said they had investigated Karpark meters' performances in other cities in Ohio and Indiana and found that officials were satisfied with the devices. But Councilman James Cunningham read newspaper clippings at a Council meeting in mid-April criticizing the Karpark meters for malfunctions in wet or cold weather.

St. Clair Ave. Paving Will Begin Thursday

Herman Brothers, Inc., of Youngstown, contractor, will pour the first concrete Thursday for St. Clair Ave.'s new 36-foot pavement, starting at the north end of the project at Cartwright St.

A definite time has not been set, but the first concrete probably will be poured tomorrow morning. The eastern 18 feet of the pavement will be poured first. The work will proceed south to the end of the project at Princeton Ave.

Approximately 1,000 to 1,500 feet of the pavement will be poured daily. The project extends 1.56 miles. Project supervisors said traffic still is a deterrent to rapid progress on the job and asked motorists to stay off the stretch unless the trip is "absolutely necessary."

Girl Listed Critical As Result Of Injuries

Robin Robinson, 3-year-old Midland girl hurt in a head-on collision Monday near Industry, was listed in "critical" condition today at City Hospital.

Daughter of Arnold Robinson of 146 Midland Ave., Midland, she suffered internal injuries and facial lacerations in the collision involving a car operated by Marjorie Hatfield, 23, of Midland and Anita Fry, 27, of Industry on Forest Hill School Rd. at the crest of a hill.

Father, Son Saved After Month At Sea

MANILA (AP) — An American and his son, given up for lost after their raft drifted away from Guam, have been rescued 1,400 miles from home after 32 days at sea.

Frank H. Cushing, 63, a former aviation stuntman, and Frank Jr., 20 were sighted by a police patrol boat Monday off Camiguin Island, north of the main Philippine island of Luzon. Police at first thought they were smugglers.

The Cushings were on a 20-foot raft made of oil drums, using an improvised sail made of a blanket and parachute cloth.

The constabulary's northern zone headquarters reported that both were well, that their clothes were intact despite their ordeal, and that they still had some provisions.

The two men, who live on Guam, told their rescuers they were searching reefs around Guam for rare fish for young Frank's collection. They anchored off Puto Point on the night of April 15. While they slept, strong currents pulled the raft out to sea.

They woke to find themselves lost.

The U.S. Navy made a search but couldn't find them.

The Cushings drifted all the way to the Philippines over one of the world's most deserted stretches of ocean. The raft was making about 3 knots when it was sighted.

Cushing's wife, Marjorie, had written to the Manila Times appealing for help in finding her missing men. Today the paper's publisher, Joaquin P. Roces, cabled her: "Your husband and son in good health, now on way Manila."

Cushing formerly lived in the Philippines and is well known here. His brother, the late Col. James Cushing, was a guerrilla leader against the Japanese here in World War II.

Jury Returns Verdict In Favor Of City Man

LISBON — A Common Pleas Court jury late Tuesday afternoon returned a verdict for the defendant, Arcena Sayre Wilson of 813 Burford St., East Liverpool, in a $1,485.42 suit for damages filed by Eazor Express Inc., East Liverpool.

The company claimed that Wilson was driving its leased truck when it upset, and the steel load had to be returned to Midland at a cost of $1,485.42.

The defendant claimed the company was supposed to have the load insured, and he was not liable for the damages.

The jury was:

Poll Tax

beating down the attempt to ban the poll tax.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach and some strong supporters of the measure have said to outlaw state poll taxes by statute could be unconstitutional. They proposed instead that the voting bill provide for a quick court test of the tax.

The amendment for a congressional declaration is sponsored by Sens. Mike Mansfield and Everett M. Dirksen, the Democratic and Republican leaders.

It would declare the constitutional right to vote is denied or abridged in certain states by making poll-tax payments a condition to vote. Voting on the amendment was expected in midafternoon and despite some stormy vocal criticism, it appeared certain of adoption.

Meanwhile, Rep. William M. McCulloch of Ohio, ranking Republican on the House Judiciary Committee, said the way the bill now stands it could produce illegal ballots that might sow the seeds of revolution in the United States.

McCulloch is backing a voting measure generally in line with one proposed by House Republican leaders. This would guarantee voting rights anywhere in the nation where qualified people have been kept from casting a ballot by racial discrimination, he said.

"It has no tricky triggering provision," McCulloch asserted.

He also claimed it would make sure only legal ballots are counted in an election. The administration's bill, he said, would not. He is concerned some voters might be challenged on grounds of residency or other technicalities after having been registered by federal registrars.

Without legislative safeguards to make sure only qualified people vote, McCulloch said the way would be open for election of officials — even a president — by votes which later could prove invlaid.

Director To Resign Religion-Race Post

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Rev. Charles W. Rawlings is leaving directorship of the Greater Cleveland Office of Religion and Race May 31, to serve with the federal government's Community Relations Service.

The Rev. Mr. Rawlings, a Presbyterian minister, had directed the Office of Race and Religion since it was formed in August, 1963.

A militant integrationist and a center of some controversy, the Rev. Mr. Rawlings said his resignation, announced Tuesday, was not the result of disagreement with the 18-member board.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. William E. Minshall, R - Ohio, has demanded that Congress send a Pentagon investigation team to South Viet Nam to investigate what he called "gross stupidity" in the bomb explosions at Bien Hoa Air Base.

Noting that the explosions Sunday caused the heaviest loss of life the United States has suffered in the campaign, Minshall said, "It is ironic and terrible that this is an apparently self-inflicted disaster not accountable to either enemy attack or sabotage."

er hampered air strikes accompanying it.

Since the air strikes so far have not done sufficient damage to the North Vietnamese to bring them to the conference table, there was speculation that the raiders may seek more important targets, possibly in the industrialized Hanoi-Haiphong region.

So far the bombings have been directed against military barracks, ammunition depots, air fields, bridges and road and railway traffic. The northernmost point hit was a bridge at Dong Phuong, 65 miles south of Hanoi, on April 3.

The air strikes against the Communist North were resumed after a six-day pause during which the United States reportedly sent out feelers to North Viet Nam for peace talks. Hanoi evidently rejected them.

State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said in Washington the United States was disappointed at the failure of North Viet Nam to respond in any way to the suspension.

"If the other side saw anything in it," McCloskey said, "We've had no evidence of it."

A North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry statement broadcast a few hours after Tuesday's raid called the suspension an effort to camouflage American intensification of the war and to deceive world opinion.

Hanoi said North Viet Nam "affirms once again that the four-point stand made public on April 8, 1965, is the only sound basis for a political settlement of the Viet Nam problem."

The four points include withdrawal of U.S. troops from Viet Nam.

Senior Western officials in London said the United States made its peace approach to Hanoi through a third country. The country was not identified, but there was speculation that the British consul-general in Hanoi was the go-between.

The officials reported the United States suggested the air attacks would be halted indefinitely if Hanoi made some comparable gesture. Presumably Washington would have been satisifed, they said, if the Communists stopped the flow of arms and recruits to the Viet Cong in the South.

Twenty U.S. Navy fighter-bombers and 10 F8 Crusaders from the 7th Fleet carrier Coral Sea Tuesday hit a petroleum storage area and military barracks at Phu Qui, 125 miles south of Hanoi. A U.S. military spokesman said the pilots reported extremely heavy damage.

They said all the oil tanks were damaged, many of them severely, and that 90 per cent of the barracks were demolished, the spokesman reported.

Katzenbach Attacks NRA

Administration Fights To Curb Mail-Order Guns

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration today opened its fight for a bill to curb mail-order traffic in guns with a charge by Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach that the National Rifle Association has used "misleading" and "preposterous" arguments against the measure.

Katzenbach, lead-off witness before the Senate Juvenile Delinquency subcommittee, devoted a considerable part of his prepared statement to a point-by-point refutation of NRA objections to the legislation.

The bill, Katzenbach said, is designed "to help the states protect themselves against the unchecked flood of mail-order weapons to residents whose purposes might not be responsible, or even lawful."

The principal provision of the bill would prohibit unlicensed persons from transporting, shipping or receiving firearms in interstate or foreign commerce.

The attorney general said that the NRA, in a letter urging its 700,000 members to pressure congressmen and senators to oppose the bill, warned that "if the battle is lost, it will be your loss, and that of all who follow."

Said Katzenbach: "It is impossible for me to understand the NRA's view of what battle is being fought and what the stakes are. In my view we are all joined in a nationwide battle — a battle against rape and robbery and muggings and murder — and the stakes are public order and safety for every citizen."

"In a country in which more than half the 8,500 murders each year are committed by firearms, many of them assuredly obtained by mail, congressional action is called for now," the attorney general said.

He contended the NRA's argument that the measure could lead to elimination of "the private ownership of all guns" is "not conceivable. I am compelled to say that there is only one word which can serve in reply to such a fear—preposterous."

The proposed legislation would require retail gun dealers to limit sales of hand guns to residents of their states, raise the annual license fee for dealers and manufacturers and give the secretary of the Treasury discretion on who should be licensed to manufacture, import or deal in deadly weapons covered by the Federal Firearms Act.

Icebreaker Ends Rescue Battle, Heads To Harbor

BOSTON (AP) — The icebreaker USS Edisto headed toward Boston harbor today after a month-long battle to rescue 20 men from a melting ice slab northwest of Iceland.

Her arrival will end the saga of Arlis II, the Navy's ice island that for four years carried scientists through the Arctic Ocean from Alaska to the Greenland Sea.

The Navy sent the Edisto north in April four days after she returned from a four-month mission in Antarctica.

After fighting 16 days to traverse 150 miles of consolidated pack ice, she reached the ice island and took aboard the inhabitants and 30 tons of equipment on May 10.

The evacuees left the ship at Keflavik, Iceland, for their homes or vacations.

Arlis II was operated by the University of Alaska for the Office of Naval Research.

Taft Endorses Plan For Filling Position

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Proposed legislation to change the chief justice of the Ohio Supreme Court from an elected to an appointed post has been approved by the man who now fills that seat.

Chief Justice Kingsley A. Taft has endorsed a proposal by Sen. Fred L. Hoffman, R-Hamilton, for selection of the chief justice by the seven high court judges, instead of through election by voters every six years.

Taft said in a letter to Hoffman that under the present system someone who has never had any experience on the court could be elected chief justice.

Katzenbach Attacks NRA

Administration Fights To Curb Mail-Order Guns

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration today opened its fight for a bill to curb mail-order traffic in guns with a charge by Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach that the National Rifle Association has used "misleading" and "preposterous" arguments against the measure.

Katzenbach, lead-off witness before the Senate Juvenile Delinquency subcommittee, devoted a considerable part of his prepared statement to a point-by-point refutation of NRA objections to the legislation.

The bill, Katzenbach said, is designed "to help the states protect themselves against the unchecked flood of mail-order weapons to residents whose purposes might not be responsible, or even lawful."

The principal provision of the bill would prohibit unlicensed persons from transporting, shipping or receiving firearms in interstate or foreign commerce.

The attorney general said that the NRA, in a letter urging its 700,000 members to pressure congressmen and senators to oppose the bill, warned that "if the battle is lost, it will be your loss, and that of all who follow."

Said Katzenbach: "It is impossible for me to understand the NRA's view of what battle is being fought and what the stakes are. In my view we are all joined in a nationwide battle — a battle against rape and robbery and muggings and murder — and the stakes are public order and safety for every citizen."

"In a country in which more than half the 8,500 murders each year are committed by firearms, many of them assuredly obtained by mail, congressional action is called for now," the attorney general said.

He contended the NRA's argument that the measure could lead to elimination of "the private ownership of all guns" is "not conceivable. I am compelled to say that there is only one word which can serve in reply to such a fear—preposterous."

The proposed legislation would require retail gun dealers to limit sales of hand guns to residents of their states, raise the annual license fee for dealers and manufacturers and give the secretary of the Treasury discretion on who should be licensed to manufacture, import or deal in deadly weapons covered by the Federal Firearms Act.

Icebreaker Ends Rescue Battle, Heads To Harbor

BOSTON (AP) — The icebreaker USS Edisto headed toward Boston harbor today after a month-long battle to rescue 20 men from a melting ice slab northwest of Iceland.

Her arrival will end the saga of Arlis II, the Navy's ice island that for four years carried scientists through the Arctic Ocean from Alaska to the Greenland Sea.

The Navy sent the Edisto north in April four days after she returned from a four-month mission in Antarctica.

After fighting 16 days to traverse 150 miles of consolidated pack ice, she reached the ice island and took aboard the inhabitants and 30 tons of equipment on May 10.

The evacuees left the ship at Keflavik, Iceland, for their homes or vacations.

Arlis II was operated by the University of Alaska for the Office of Naval Research.

Taft Endorses Plan For Filling Position

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Proposed legislation to change the chief justice of the Ohio Supreme Court from an elected to an appointed post has been approved by the man who now fills that seat.

Chief Justice Kingsley A. Taft has endorsed a proposal by Sen. Fred L. Hoffman, R-Hamilton, for selection of the chief justice by the seven high court judges, instead of through election by voters every six years.

Taft said in a letter to Hoffman that under the present system someone who has never had any experience on the court could be elected chief justice.

Middle-Road Regime

U.S. Seeks Civilian Rule In Dominican Republic

WASHINGTON (AP) — The focus of Johnson administration efforts in the Dominican Republic is to get a middle-road, civilian regime set up.

Hopefully, such a body would command enough respect and authority to quell the fighting and lay the ground for a more permanent democratic government.

If President Johnson's high-powered team, headed by McGeorge Bundy, his adviser on national security affairs, scores with its on-the-spot diplomacy, the success story could go like this:

Rival factions agree on a provisional, Communist-free government commanding widespread acceptance; this ends the fighting; the Organization of American States takes over the supervisory chore as the country moves toward free elections for a permanent government; Johnson pulls out all of the 23,000-man U.S. force except for a fraction remaining with other Latin-American units under the banner of the Organization of American States until stability is restored.

A failure to find a formula for an accepted government, U.S. sources privately acknowledge, could mean that large numbers of U.S. Marines and paratroopers will be kept in the country for many months.

The sources said the administration is well aware of widespread Latin-American distaste for U.S. intervention in a Latin-American nation. If ousted President Juan Bosch — supported by the rebels — is represented in an interim government, this presumably would counter charges that the United States stepped in to help the military junta.

In any event, with some Latin-American forces now on the scene, the Johnson administration is expected to announce withdrawal of a part of the American force fairly soon.

One of the difficulties at the moment, according to Washington sources, is that both junta President Brig. Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera and rebel leader Col. Francisco Caamano Deno keep pushing for sole control of the country.

They say each side has made demands unacceptable to the other and has bitter-enders ready to fight to the finish. A cease-fire has been broken repeatedly. Each has rebuffed pleadings by OAS and U.S. emissaries, who get freely blamed.

Washington has widened its political maneuvering room somewhat since Johnson declared May 2 that the revolution had been "taken over and really seized and placed into the hands of a band of Communist conspirators."

Roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman said on May 17 "there is no contention that Col. Caamano today is dominated by the Communists." The United States was reported pressuring the junta to resign, after failing to get Brig. Gen. Elias Wessin y Wessin to step down as anti-insurgent armed forces leader.

Caamano denied Communist control and continued to level charges at the Americans. Imbert pressed attacks on the rebels, telling Bundy his objective was the same as Johnson's — to keep the country from the Reds.

The U.S. emissaries are said to have received in writing a commitment from both sides opposing Communist control of any Dominican government. It is expected that Caamano and Imbert will agree to step aside in favor of civilian government if their other conditions are met.

Tuesday night, Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. ambassador to the OAS, told a special OAS conference here that "civilian and military leaders on both sides recognize that the Communists present a continuing threat to any Democratic government."

"They recognize," he said, "that these Communists, some of whom were trained abroad, must be dealt with effectively, vigororously and definitively to prevent the Dominican government and people from falling under their control."

However, the leadership of the proposed interim government is not the only question remaining to be thrashed out. There is also argument over who should head the armed forces and hold certain important Cabinet posts.

Meanwhile, the slow pace of the OAS in shouldering the Dominican burden has left a lot to be desired, from the U.S. standpoint. From the start, Washington has been urging the inter-American body to take over.

Tuesday, U.S. Air Force transports flew 164 Nicaraguan troops to Santo Domingo. Honduras has sent in 250. Costa Rica has 20 en route. Brazil is expected to contribute 800. The State Department termed this moderate progress.

Hit-Skip Cars Blamed For 4 City Mishaps

Hit - skip crashes damaged four parked autos in East Liverpool Tuesday night and early today, police reported.

Robert V. Bontempt, 1036 Bradshaw Ave., told officers the left rear fender of his 1960 model two - door sedan was damaged about 12:03 this morning while parked in front of his home.

Bontempt said he heard a crash, went outside to investigate and discovered the damage. He saw a 1964 model car disappearing east on Bradshaw Ave. and furnished police with a description.

Herbert F. Hughes Jr., 1430 Globe St., told officers his 1964 model two - door sedan was damaged on the right rear Tuesday night while parked on E. 6th St. near Broadway.

Hughes said he did not discover the damage to the car immediately. As he drove east on Bradshaw Ave. at Ambrose Ave., the right rear tire blew out, Hughes said. The driver said he halted at a friend's home on Riley Ave. to change the tire.

Elizabeth M. Lovell, 21, of 950 Denver St., reported she parked a 1960 four - door sedan owned by Arb Motors of Pennsylvania Ave. about 5 p. m. yesterday on W. 5th St. and when she returned she discovered the right rear had been damaged by a hit-skip vehicle.

2,750 In W. Va. Slated For Jobs In Youth Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — Summer jobs will be provided for 2,750 West Virginia youngsters under a $1,599,900 Youth Corps project approved by the U.S. Labor Department.

Jobs will be set up for about 2,550 boys and 200 girls between 16 and 21 in the State Road Commission.

Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz announced approval of the program Tuesday. The federal government will pay 90 per cent of the project's cost — about $1.43 million.

Boys involved in the program will work on the state's secondary roads, clearing right of way, doing minor repairs and some road construction, according to Paul Crabtree, administrative assistant to West Virginia Gov. Hulett Smith.

Their jobs will be similar to those held by unemployed fathers in the state's Aid to Dependent Children of the Unemployed program. Girls will do clerical work, Crabtree said.

Cartwheels To Roll

Probably Right To Souvenir Hunters, Speculators

NEW YORK (AP) — Silver cartwheels are scheduled to roll out of the Denver Mint soon, but they'll probably roll right into the pockets of souvenir hunters and speculators and never be seen again.

The 45 million silver dollars would be the first to be minted in three decades. They should be worth at least $2 each, coin dealers say.

"It's ridiculous," said Tom Wass, president of International Numismatics Corp. Tuesday. "Everybody's crying about the silver shortage and now the government's throwing away $45 million on silver dollars nobody needs."

Benjamin Stack, a partner in Stack's Coin Co. and a member of the U.S. Assay Commission, said: "I'm absolutely stunned. Those silver dollars will never even get into the collectors' hands, much less the public's. The speculation will be tremendous. It will be an absolute mess."

The speculators would be betting on an increase in the price of silver or in the numismatic value of the dollars.

The Silver Users Association, an industry group, also believes that the new silver dollars would disappear immediately. Even silver producer interests indicated surprise at the order for minting them.

The Treasury and Federal Reserve System said they have no yet worked out a plan for distribution. Coins normally go through the Federal Reserve System to the nation's banks.

President Johnson gave the go-ahead to make the silver dollars over the weekend, noting that Congress appropriated $600,000 for the minting last year and adding: "It has always been my intention to carry out the will of Congress as soon as feasible"

The silver-producing states of the West traditionally have been vocal in demands for silver dollars.

Silver, however, is in such short supply that even if the United States eliminated silver from all coins, industrial demand would still far outstrip the production of mines. The government's dwindling stockpile has been filling the supply gap.

The Treasury is expected to disclose soon its recommendations for reducing or eliminating silver in dimes, quarters and half-dollars.

The Mint turned out more than 855 million cartwheels between 1794 and 1935, but none is in general circulation today. Coin dealers ask as much as $1.50 for even the most common specimens.

Johnson directed the Denver Mint to produce the silver dollars by June 30. Fern Miller, superintendent of the mint there, said she doesn't know yet when production will start.

Lisbon Firemen To Reopen Drive

LISBON — Volunteer firemen will resume canvassing for funds for a new fire ambulance after a week's delay for clearing up technical points.

The drive will begin Thursday evening in Center Township and will continue Friday and Saturday. The drive in Elkrun Township is set May 27-29.

Village Council and Center and Elkrun Township trustees met Monday night, when each township agreed to pay for ambulance trips the same as they do now on fire calls.

The firemen stopped the drive last week after Council advised it was not able to pay village funds for ambulance trips into Center and Elkrun Townships.

Village Solicitor Joseph Baronzzi and Atty. Charles Pike will draw up an agreement which will be signed by the village and township trustees for payment of ambulance trips.

The fireman, needing $8,050, collected over half the amount in the village.

Police identified the body as that of Mrs. Pauline Pontiere, 44, mother of three sons and two daughters.

All evidence pointed to murder pending the results of an autopsy, Lt. Joseph Start of the Allegheny County Detective Bureau, Homicide Division, said.

Special investigator for the district attorney's office, Dr. Cyril H. Wecht, reported there was a hole in the forehead and another in one of the woman's arms.

Police Quizzing 8 Children Who Dug Up Money

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — Police are questioning eight boys, none over 13, in an attempt to find out exactly how much money the children found while they were digging through a trash pile.

Police said they recovered $3,900 in $50 and $100 bills Tuesday. The investigation began when a food store operator saw an 11-year-old boy drop a $100 bill. The operator called the boy's mother, who phoned police.

The children told police they found the money at the home of two elderly sisters, Florence and Margaret Graney, who died in March.

Four boys said they found the money and shared it with four friends. Two of the boys told police they had bought new bicycles. Another said he gave a friend $120.

Man To Face Case Filed By Health Board

John Dee Jackson, 824 Pennsylvania Ave., is scheduled for a Municipal Court hearing Monday on a charge he failed to comply with a Health Board order that declared his property "a public nuisance" and "dangerous to health" and instructed him to remove "debris and rubbish which is scattered around the premises."

The charge against Jackson was filed Tuesday by Gene J. Smith, a Health Board sanitary inspector, and the defendant was served with a warrant by police.

The affidavit alleges that Jackson "unlawfully did wilfully omit to obey an order of the Board of Health of the City of East Liverpool made on April 15 in pursuance to authority granted" in the Ohio Revised Code.

The Health Board's order, quoted in the affidavit, said that Jackson's property "is in a condition that is dangerous to the health of the community in which the same is located because of the debris and rubbish which is scattered and allowed to remain around the premises."

The order also said that "the above condition is dangerous to life and health" and that "said premises and condition are hereby declared to be a public nuisance."

The affidavit said Jackson was instructed "to remove all the debris and rubbish from the premises on or before April 24."

Man To Face Case Filed By Health Board

John Dee Jackson, 824 Pennsylvania Ave., is scheduled for a Municipal Court hearing Monday on a charge he failed to comply with a Health Board order that declared his property "a public nuisance" and "dangerous to health" and instructed him to remove "debris and rubbish which is scattered around the premises."

The charge against Jackson was filed Tuesday by Gene J. Smith, a Health Board sanitary inspector, and the defendant was served with a warrant by police.

The affidavit alleges that Jackson "unlawfully did wilfully omit to obey an order of the Board of Health of the City of East Liverpool made on April 15 in pursuance to authority granted" in the Ohio Revised Code.

The Health Board's order, quoted in the affidavit, said that Jackson's property "is in a condition that is dangerous to the health of the community in which the same is located because of the debris and rubbish which is scattered and allowed to remain around the premises."

The order also said that "the above condition is dangerous to life and health" and that "said premises and condition are hereby declared to be a public nuisance."

The affidavit said Jackson was instructed "to remove all the debris and rubbish from the premises on or before April 24."

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Delinquency On Increase In Suburbia

Sam and Rosemary, expecting their first baby, were living in the city not far from Sam's place of work. Hoping to have more children later they began mutual talks on planning for an ideal place to bring up the family. They decided to buy a home in a growing new development, 90 minutes ride on the main line from where Sam works. He figured it would be no hardship to spend three hours a day riding on the train, when they could live in such a grand place, with perfect surroundings, modern schools, and away from all breeding places of crime and delinquency. What dreams they had!

Dr. Garry Myers

Now, 16 years later, with their children in school, they have been disillusioned. They learn about the large number of youngsters in their fine community going wrong. They read in their local paper about this matter.

—:—

THEY ALSO may read of such in the metropolitan newspapers. A story of wayward youths in their suburban town may be on the front pages of large papers throughout the nation. This story also may find a place in the news magazines.

These young parents may eventually discover that many suburbs and suburbia are getting as bad a name for juvenile delinquency as their own. Recently they may have read a newspaper report under the headline, "Crime in Suburbs Increasing Faster than in City." It was a report from FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, released by the Justice Department.

This report showed for 1964 an 18 per cent increase in major crimes in the suburbs compared with a 13 per cent increase in the nation as a whole.

Furthermore, arrests of suburban juveniles were up 18 per cent as against 10 per cent for cities over 100,000 population and in rural areas. To my knowledge, this is the first time we have had figures to warrant the headlin. "Crime in Suburbia Increasing Faster than in City."

—:—

FOR A number of years I have been saying in this column that the rate of increase in delinquency seems to be increasing by and large most rapidly in the better economic areas of our nation. I came to this conclusion from reading the newspapers. Now we have some objective evidence.

Yet the FBI figures may be too optimistic; they may fail to give a true picture, since apparently wayward youths in suburbs and suburbia are less likely to get police records than those of the larger city.

In his report, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover explained that, "the accelerated suburban crime trend is due, in part, to rapid population growth without a corresponding increase in police protection in these communities." While improvement in police protection certainly should help considerably to reduce crime and juvenile delinquency in suburbs and suburbia, can we hope to hold back the waters of the rising stream of youngsters going wrong, just by building a higher dam?

Some may say, "Parents of suburbs and suburbia must do a better job of bring up their children." J. Edgar Hoover has often appealed to parents in general to do so. Many other law enforcement leaders and judges and editors also have made this plea. But most parents would like to be good parents. Most of those whose children are going wrong are greatly worried, and would like to be better parents, if they only knew how.

THOSE parents whose children at 10, 12 or 15 have got beyond parental control are especially distressed. It certainly won't be easy for them to re-establish control now. Perhaps there is hope in parents of babes in arm, that these parents might discover ways to establish basic control in those youngsters during their early years.

Unfortunately, however, most young parents don't seem to think that early control of the tot is important. Indeed, many of them suppose they might harm the youngster by restraining him. They have pretty widely accepted the prevailing philosophy of excessive permissiveness in the nursery.

It seems that the kind of young parents who have chosen suburbs and suburbia for a place to bring up their children are the very kind most inclined to accept this theory and practice. I wonder if this might have a great bearing on the whole problem of the rapid jump in rate of juvenile delinquency in suburbs and suburbia.

My bulletins, "How Juvenile Delinquency Can be Curbed," and "How to Teach Child Meaning of No," may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Allen Chosen For 3rd Term As Chairman Of Merchants

Dayton Allen, chairman, and all other officers were returned for new terms without opposition, it was announced Tuesday when the East Liverpool Merchants Association met at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Allen, proprietor of Allen's Shoe Store on Washington St., will be beginning his third term as head of the retailers' group. The other elective officers are Jack Steinberg, vice chairman, and James Locke, treasurerr. E. R. Chandler is secretary by virtue of his post as executive manager of the Chamber.

Re-election of the officers was announced following tabulation of ballots mailed to all members after the nominating committee reported at the April meeting. Although none of the officers was opposed, the constitution required that ballots must be mailed to the members, confirming selection of the slate and allowing opportunities for write-ins.

Leslie Blumenthal reported on the merchants' annual spring outing Wednesday, June 2. The group will travel to Pittsburgh by chartered bus, visiting the Nationality Rooms at the University of Pittsburgh, having dinner at the Webster Hall Hotel and then attending a night baseball game of the Pittsburgh Pirates. The bus will leave the former Bus Terminal at 2:30 p. m.

A report also was presented on a conference between an ELMA committee and City Council Monday night on the need for additional off - street parking space in the downtown area.

How To Counteract Sagging Abdomen

Tone in the muscles which support the abdominal organs is important to your well - being, as well as to your figure. Nobody likes the middle age spread, but that dragged down feeling is far worse.

Ida Jean Kain

Special exercises to restore tone to the abdominals should be taken from a lying - down position so that the vital organs in the abdominal cavity can resume normal placement.

—:—

FOR THIS reason, the exercises in the leaflet Away With Middle Spread are taken from a position of flat on the back with hips slightly elevated. In this position the organs are encouraged to take their normal high place. The organs in the abdominal cavity are entirely sustained by muscle. Without tone in the muscles, the organs, lacking support, sag and crowd each other. This interferes with circulation, digestion and elimination, and your health is affected.

The following routine helps to restore tone to these important muscles.

Position: Lying on back on floor, knees bent, soles of feet flat on floor. In this safety position there is no strain. Have arms down at sides.

Action: Contract strongly with the abdominal muscles, pulling snugly up-and-in. Keeping the muscles contracted, lift hips just slightly off floor. Hold the up-and-in pull for a slow count of six, breathing freely. Do not hold your breath. Lower hips to floor, slowly, one vertebra at a time. Relax and repeat three to four times.

From the same starting position, progress with second exercise.

ACTION: Raise hips off floor, pulling in vigorously with abdominal muscles — and at the same time fling arms back on floor overhead. Hold the contraction for a slow count of six, counting out loud so as to breathe normally. Return hips to floor, swing arms back to starting position. Repeat three or four times.

Even though you skip all other calisthenics, tone the anti-gravity muscles with a little daily exercise taken from the right position. Of course, strength of muscle is not health per se. But exercising the muscles which surround the vital organs has a quickening effect, which enhances the feeling of well - being.

When you have considerable weight to lose, it is of prime importance to exercise only from a safety position. As fat is removed, the supporting muscles, wear a girdle which lifts rather than merely compresses.

Talk with your own doctor about the importance of proper support. Follow his advice regarding exercises.

Send stamped, self - addressed long envelope for Away With Middle Spread. Address request to Ida Jean Kain, care of The Review. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Presbyterians Told To Make Known 'Fullness Of Gospel'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Presbyterians meeting here this week are being "called upon to make known the fullness of the Gospel in all the structures of our lives."

That theme was sounded Tuesday by Dr. Edler Hawkins, the first Negro ever elected moderator by the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., in opening a two-day conference preceding the start of the church's 177th General Assembly here Thursday.

Among proposals to be considered by the delegates are major revisions in church doctrine and a statement on racism which includes a provision to urge action to remove barriers to interracial marriages. The proposed doctrinal changes also would be related to the church's involvement in modern society.

In his opening message, Dr. Hawkins referred to the determination of the disciples Peter and John to continue preaching even if it meant jail or death. "And whether then or now this kind of obedience is the crucial and peculiar mark of the people of God," he said.

Those attending the two-day pre-assembly conference heard Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr., wife of the Nobel Prize-winning civil rights leader, sing in a concert Tuesday night.

In an interview, Mrs. King related the church - led civil rights movement with the rise in ecumencial spirit of Christian unity. She said demonstrations in Selma, Ala., showed this relation, with churchmen of all faiths taking part in the rights activity.

She also said the real friction in the integration movement is coming in the North, rather than the South. "You have a little integration here and there," she said of the North, "but you really don't want the Negro as he moves closer."

Most of the South "realizes that there is a problem," she said, but in the North "there has been just enough good will and enough opportunity to keep people complacent."

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Dr. Garry Myers

Sam and Rosemary, expecting their first baby, were living in the city not far from Sam's place of work. Hoping to have more children later they began mutual talks on planning for an ideal place to bring up the family. They decided to buy a home in a growing new development, 90 minutes ride on the main line from where Sam works. He figured it would be no hardship to spend three hours a day riding on the train, when they could live in such a grand place, with perfect surroundings, modern schools, and away from all breeding places of crime and delinquency. What dreams they had!

Now, 16 years later, with their children in school, they have been disillusioned. They learn about the large number of youngsters in their fine community going wrong. They read in their local paper about this matter.

THEY ALSO may read of such in the metropolitan newspapers. A story of wayward youths in their suburban town may be on the front pages of large papers throughout the nation. This story also may find a place in the news magazines.

These young parents may eventually discover that many suburbs and suburbia are getting as bad a name for juvenile delinquency as their own. Recently they may have read a newspaper report under the headline, "Crime in Suburbs Increasing Faster than in City." It was a report from FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, released by the Justice Department.

This report showed for 1964 an 18 per cent increase in major crimes in the suburbs compared with a 13 per cent increase in the nation as a whole.

Furthermore, arrests of suburban juveniles were up 18 per cent as against 10 per cent for cities over 100,000 population and in rural areas. To my knowledge, this is the first time we have had figures to warrant the headline, "Crime in Suburbia Increasing Faster than in City."

—:—

FOR A number of years I have been saying in this column that the rate of increase in delinquency seems to be increasing by and large most rapidly in the better economic areas of our nation. I came to this conclusion from reading the newspapers. Now we have some objective evidence.

Yet the FBI figures may be too optimistic; they may fail to give a true picture, since apparently wayward youths in suburbs and suburbia are less likely to get police records than those of the larger city.

In his report, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover explained that, "the accelerated suburban crime trend is due, in part, to rapid population growth without a corresponding increase in police protection in these communities." While improvement in police protection certainly should help considerably to reduce crime and juvenile delinquency in suburbs and suburbia, can we hope to hold back the waters of the rising stream of youngsters going wrong, just by building a higher dam?

Some may say, "Parents of suburbs and suburbia must do a better job of bring up their children." J. Edgar Hoover has often appealed to parents in general to do so. Many other law enforcement leaders and judges and editors also have made this plea. But most parents would like to be good parents. Most of those whose children are going wrong are greatly worried, and would like to be better parents, if they only knew how.

THOSE parents whose children at 10, 12 or 15 have got beyond parental control are especially distressed. It certainly won't be easy for them to re-establish control now. Perhaps there is hope in parents of babes in arm, that these parents might discover ways to establish basic control in those youngsters during their early years.

Unfortunately, however, most young parents don't seem to think that early control of the tot is important. Indeed, many of them suppose they might harm the youngster by restraining him. They have pretty widely accepted the prevailing philosophy of excessive permissiveness in the nursery.

It seems that the kind of young parents who have chosen suburbs and suburbia for a place to bring up their children are the very kind most inclined to accept this theory and practice. I wonder if this might have a great bearing on the whole problem of the rapid jump in rate of juvenile delinquency in suburbs and suburbia.

My bulletins, "How Juvenile Delinquency Can be Curbed," and "How to Teach Child Meaning of No," may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Allen Chosen For 3rd Term As Chairman Of Merchants

Dayton Allen, chairman, and all other officers were returned for new terms without opposition, it was announced Tuesday when the East Liverpool Merchants Association met at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Allen, proprietor of Allen's Shoe Store on Washington St., will be beginning his third term as head of the retailers' group. The other elective officers are Jack Steinberg, vice chairman, and James Locke, treasurer. E. R. Chandler is secretary by virtue of his post as executive manager of the Chamber.

Re-election of the officers was announced following tabulation of ballots mailed to all members after the nominating committee reported at the April meeting. Although none of the officers was opposed, the constitution required that ballots must be mailed to the members, confirming selection of the slate and allowing opportunities for write-ins.

Leslie Blumenthal reported on the merchants' annual spring outing Wednesday, June 2. The group will travel to Pittsburgh by chartered bus, visiting the Nationality Rooms at the University of Pittsburgh, having dinner at the Webster Hall Hotel and then attending a night baseball game of the Pittsburgh Pirates. The bus will leave the former Bus Terminal at 2:30 p. m.

A report also was presented on a conference between an ELMA committee and City Council Monday night on the need for additional off-street parking space in the downtown area.

Max Shoff, chairman of the promotion committee, reported on concluding activities in the merchants' Bermuda Play-Time Vacation contest, which will end late Saturday afternoon. The winner will be named publicly at approximately 5 p. m. Saturday on the Diamond, Shoff said.

Winners of individual prizes offered by participating stores will be named at the same time, he said.

Following an annual custom, the group voted to dispense with its June and July meetings because of the vacation season. The constitution allows the Executive Committee to act in the interim and special meetings may be called, if necessary. The next regular meeting will be Tuesday, Aug. 17.

Capital Improvements Bill Passed

Ohio House To OK Study Of State, City Tax Setup

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An emergency act calling for a sweeping study of state and local tax structures was virtually assured of passage today in the Ohio House.

Legislative leaders called the measure up for a vote after a flurry of activity Tuesday during which the administration's $190 million capital improvements measure passed the House and was sent to the Senate.

Rep. Charles F. Kurfess, R-Wood, and five other representatives sponsored the tax study proposal, which they said is needed to assure equitable distribution of the tax burden.

Under the bill, an Ohio Tax Study Commission could be created. It would be empowered to employ and fix the salary of a director of tax research and such employes needed to carry out his duties. Results of the study and recommendations of the commission would be presented to the legislature no later than February 1, 1967. An appropriation of $150,000 is included to pay for the study.

House members gave unanimous approval to the capital improvements measure which appropriates funds remaining from the $250 million bond issue passed by voters in 1963.

Finance Committee Chairman Ralph E. Fisher, R-Wayne, said another bill will be introduced later to appropriate funds from the $290 million bond issue approved by voters earlier this month.

Facilities for education would get the bulk of the $190 million voted by the House Tuesday. Higher education would receive $121 million and public schools $26 million for a $147 million total.

Proposals involving possible creation of so-called metropolitan governments met different fates in the two chambers Tuesday.

House members approved a proposed constitutional amendment allowing cities of more than 50,000 population to create urban service authorities to operate water, sewer, and other utilities. The resolution requires approval by voters.

Senate Democrats voted down a measure by Sen. Michael J. Maloney, R - Hamilton, which would have permitted county commissioners to place proposals for metropolitan governments on election ballots. The party-line vote was 16 yes to 15 no with 17 required for passage. Democrats opposed the bill on grounds it would give too much power to county commissioners.

Maloney accused Democrats of opposing the bill at the request of Albert S. Porter, Cuyahoga County Democratic chairman, but said "Attempts to determine the reason for such opposition were futile."

Senators voted 30-1 to make Ohio Flint the official state gem stone with Sen. Thomas Gilmartin,, D-Mahoning, dissenting.

"I understand it cost $2,200 to get this bill through. I don't believe we are down here to vote on things that no one really care about," Gilmartin said.

Bills approved by the Senate would expand real estate loans by banks, permit counties to take part in federal programs, and provide that state employes be paid every other week instead of twice a month. The latter measure also would permit payroll deduction of municipal income taxes, not now authorized.

Week Of Probing Fails To Clear Up Beating Of Coed

KENT, Ohio (AP)—A week of investigation has done little to clear up the mysterious beating of a Kent State University coed during a date with a Negro exchange student from Kenya, Africa.

"There are a lot of strange things about this case, and a lot of conflicting information," said Police Chief Roy Thompson.

Miss Teresa Harpe, 22, who is white and from Steubenville, is still listed as serious at Robinson Memorial Hospital in Ravenna. Her mouth was too swollen Tuesday to talk, and she could only shake her head for a patrolman who sought to question her.

The young woman and Samuel Rohio, 26, were walking in downtown Kent last Wednesday night when a man attacked and beat them and fled, Rohio told police.

Pay The Executioner And He Does Neat Job

SANAA, Yemen (AP) — Capital punishment in Yemen is just that — the convicted man's head is chopped off in public.

Although the republican government which ousted the royal dynasty in 1962 promised to abolish the practice, it remains in force.

Custom in Yemen has it that the condemned man should pay the executioner's wages, so he will make death as painless as possible.

If the man about to die refuses to pay the executioner—in this capital he is a towering Negro who was formerly a brigand — the executioner tarries in his task, and it may take two, or even three, blows of the sword to complete the job.

Receding Of Flood Waters Brings Mosquito Outbreak

A St. Louis pediatrician says he has "never seen it so bad."

A university professor says, "I've never heard so many people complaining."

The incidents concern floodwater mosquitoes, a vicious brand of insect that breeds best on spring flood waters.

Thousands of acres of rich farmland were swamped last month when the Mississippi River flooded its banks from Minnesota to Kentucky.

"It's simple," says Prof. W. R. Horsfall, University of Illinois entomologist, "the more area you get under water, the more mosquitoes."

Mosquito outbreaks have been reported in many cities in Illinois, Missouri and Kentucky. Health officials in Benton and Paducah, Ky., have described the situation as the worst in 10 years.

Adding to the complaints is the fear the mosquito-born encephalitis (inflammation of the brain), which claimed several lives in Illinois last year, may break out again.

St. Louis officials describe the mosquito infestation as possibly the worst in modern history.

Dr. Raymond Hellweg, 33, a St. Louis pediatrician, said he and his colleagues have "never seen it so bad."

"Instead of little lumps, some of the bites cover quite large areas," he said. "A few are as big as baseballs."

The huge bites aren't because the mosquitoes are different, Hellweg said, "but because they're bigger than I have ever seen."

River cities in northern Illinois, Iowa, Michigan and Minnesota have stepped up mosquito abatement programs.

Tensions Ease In Jerusalem Over Arab-Israeli Conflict

JERUSALEM (AP)—An Arab-Israeli conflict over the Jordan River waters still threatens the Middle East, but tensions have eased in this capital.

The easing is attributed to: the Arab world split over Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba's moderate views toward Israel, successful Israeli armed attacks on Syrian projects to divert the Jordan River, and Israel's armed forces—now completely mechanized and strengthened with American antiaircraft missiles and other new weapons.

Premier Levi Eshkol in an Independence Day speech May 6 cautioned his countrymen, however, that nothing as yet has happened to justify any slackening in Israel's efforts to "create the military potential required to avert war and repel aggression."

These efforts, he said, should be continued "much as we should like to draw encouragement from every manifestation which may hold out hope for a change toward peaceful coexistence" with the Arabs.

Eshkol and other leaders warned the Arabs after they announced plans to divert the Jordan River to prevent the Israelis from getting their share of the water.

"Any violation of our water rights will be interpreted as a violation of our territory," said Eshkol.

There seems little doubt the Israelis will continue to smash at any Arab construction equipment used in the Jordan diversion scheme.

Two such Israeli attacks—the most recent last Thursday—on Syrian diversion operations near the Israeli border have been termed successful here.

Israeli artillery and tank fire hit bulldozers and other equipment. The first attack in March halted diversion operations. When the Syrians resumed work, the Israelis hit the site again.

Also in their favor, say Israelis, is the disunity in Arab ranks.

Capital Improvements Bill Passed

Ohio House To OK Study Of State, City Tax Setup

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An emergency act calling for a sweeping study of state and local tax structures was virtually assured of passage today in the Ohio House.

Legislative leaders called the measure up for a vote after a flurry of activity Tuesday during which the administration's $190 million capital improvements measure passed the House and was sent to the Senate.

Rep. Charles F. Kurfess, R-Wood, and five other representatives sponsored the tax study proposal, which they said is needed to assure equitable distribution of the tax burden.

Under the bill, an Ohio Tax Study Commission could be created. It would be empowered to employ and fix the salary of a director of tax research and such employes needed to carry out his duties. Results of the study and recommendations of the commission would be presented to the legislature no later than February 1, 1967. An appropriation of $150,000 is included to pay for the study.

House members gave unanimous approval to the capital improvements measure which appropriates funds remaining from the $250 million bond issue passed by voters in 1963.

Finance Committee Chairman Ralph E. Fisher, R-Wayne, said another bill will be introduced later to appropriate funds from the $290 million bond isissue approved by voters earlier this month.

Facilities for education would get the bulk of the $190 million voted by the House Tuesday. Higher education would receive $121 million and public schools $26 million for a $147 million total.

Proposals involving possible creation of so-called metropolitan governments met different fates in the two chambers Tuesday.

House members approved a proposed constitutional amendment allowing cities of more than 50,000 population to create urban service authorities to operate water, sewer, and other utilities. The resolution requires approval by voters.

Senate Democrats voted down a measure by Sen. Michael J. Maloney, R - Hamilton, which would have permitted county commissioners to place proposals for metropolitan governments on election ballots. The party-line vote was 16 yes to 15 no with 17 required for passage. Democrats opposed the bill on grounds it would give too much power to county commissioners.

Maloney accused Democrats of opposing the bill at the request of Albert S. Porter, Cuyahoga County Democratic chairman, but said "Attempts to determine the reason for such opposition were futile."

Senators voted 30-1 to make Ohio Flint the official state gem stone with Sen. Thomas Gilmartin,, D-Mahoning, dissenting.

"I understand it cost $2,200 to get this bill through. I don't believe we are down here to vote on things that no one really care about," Gilmartin said.

Bills approved by the Senate would expand real estate loans by banks, permit counties to take part in federal programs, and provide that state employes be paid every other week instead of twice a month. The latter measure also would permit payroll deduction of municipal income taxes, not now authorized.

Johnson's No-Hit Bid Fails But Astros Win

By DICK COUCH
Associated Pres Sports Writer

But the light-hitting Dodgers probably stand a better chance of holding the National League lead than Houston's Ken Johnson does of breaking even on no-hit decisions.

Johnson, who already has lost a no-hitter, came within eight outs of winning one indoors Tuesday night. He wound up with a ninth-inning shower and a 4-1, three-hit triumph over Los Angeles that ended a seven-game Astro-spin.

The victory in Houston's domed stadium was the third against one loss for the veteran right-hander, who pitched a no-hit gem against Cincinnati last season but bowed 1-0 on errors.

The near no-hitter was the second against the Dodgers in four days. Dick Ellsworth of the Chicago Cubs stymied them for 7 1-3 innings last Saturday only to lose 3-1 on the only LA hit, a three-run homer by pinch hitter Al Ferrara.

The loss trimmed the Dodgers' league lead to 3½ games over the Cincinnati Reds, whose game with Pittsburgh was rained out. St. Louis drubbed Philadelphia 8-2 behind left-hander Ray Sadecki, Milwaukee nipped the New York Mets 4-3 and the Cubs downed San Francisco 7-6 in a game halted after 7½ innings because of darkness and rain.

Ron Fairly doubled with one out in the seventh, ending Johnson's no-hit bid at Houston, and scored the Dodgers' run on a single by Jim Lefebvre. Lou Johnson followed with another single, the third and last hit off Johnson, who gave way to Hal Woodeshick after walking Fairly with one out in the ninth.

Bob Aspromonte knocked in two Astro runs with a third-inning single. John Bateman's sixth-inning home run padded the lead and Rusty Staub singled in the last run in the eighth.

Sadecki gave up fourth-inning home runs to Richie Allen and Alex Johnson but allowed only three other hits while winning his first game in five decisions. It was the first complete game for the St. Louis southpaw, a 20-game winner in 1964 who had been knocked out twice in the first inning this spring.

Home runs by Bill White and Tim McCarver paced the Cardinals' 11-hit attack.

Milwaukee's Rico Carty, heavily corseted to protect an aching back, belted a two-run homer in the second inning then singled and scored another run in the fourth, leading the Braves past the Mets.

Frank Bolling also drove in two Milwaukee runs and right-hander Tony Cloninger worked out of a ninth-inning jam for his fifth victory.

The Cubs rallied twice after Willie Mays' 14th homer had helped the Giants to an early 4-0 lead and moved in front to stay on Don Landrum's two-run double in the third.

The rains came in the eighth after relief pitchers Bob Humphreys and Ted Abernathy had blanked the Giants for five innings.

Chisox Extend Win Streak To 9

Indians Blank Baltimore

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Fisher, quickly becoming one of the American League's best relief pitchers, appeared in another game Tuesday night and helped the Chicago White Sox extend their winning streak to nine with a 5-4 triumph over Kansas City.

He has relieved in 17 games, winning two and receiving credit for saving 10. During Chicago's current streak, Fisher has been called to the rescue in six games, preserving the victory each time.

And he's been doing the job primarily with a knuckleball he polished with aid from Wilhelm, the 41-year-old master of the evasive pitch.

"I joined the Sox (in 1962) with a pretty fair knuckler, but nothing like Wilhelm's," Fisher said. "Hoyt gave me a lot of tips on knucklers when we'd be sitting in the bullpen, but I learned most watching Wilhelm in a game.

"Now when it's working, I will use my knuckler 75 to 80 per cent of the time."

Fisher's latest save came after the Athletics had cut Chicago's two-run lead to 5-4 with a run in the ninth inning. Fisher replaced reliever Tommy John and ended the game by retiring pinch-hitter Rene Lachemann on a pop foul.

Elsewhere in the AL, another relief pitcher, Boston's Dick Radatz, didn't meet with such success. Radatz, having a surprisingly difficult time this season, was the losing pitcher in New York's 12-inning, 4-3 victory over Boston.

In other games, Cleveland edged Baltimore 1-0, Los Angeles trimmed Minnesota 3-1 and Washington outslugged Detroit 15-9.

The White Sox scored all of their runs in the fifth inning with the help of three straight walks by Orlando Pena and Moe Drabowsky's wild pitch. Ron Hansen capped the rally with a two-run single.

The Yankees, held hitless for six innings by Dave Morehead, erupted for two runs and a 3-3 tie in the ninth on Ray Barker's home run off Morhead and singles by Horace Clark, Bob Schmidt and Bobby Richardson against Radatz.

Fred Whitfield singled across Joe Ascue in the sixth inning for the Indians' winning run. Jack Kralick retired 13 Orioles at one stretch but had to leave after seven innings when he broke a blister on his pitching hand.

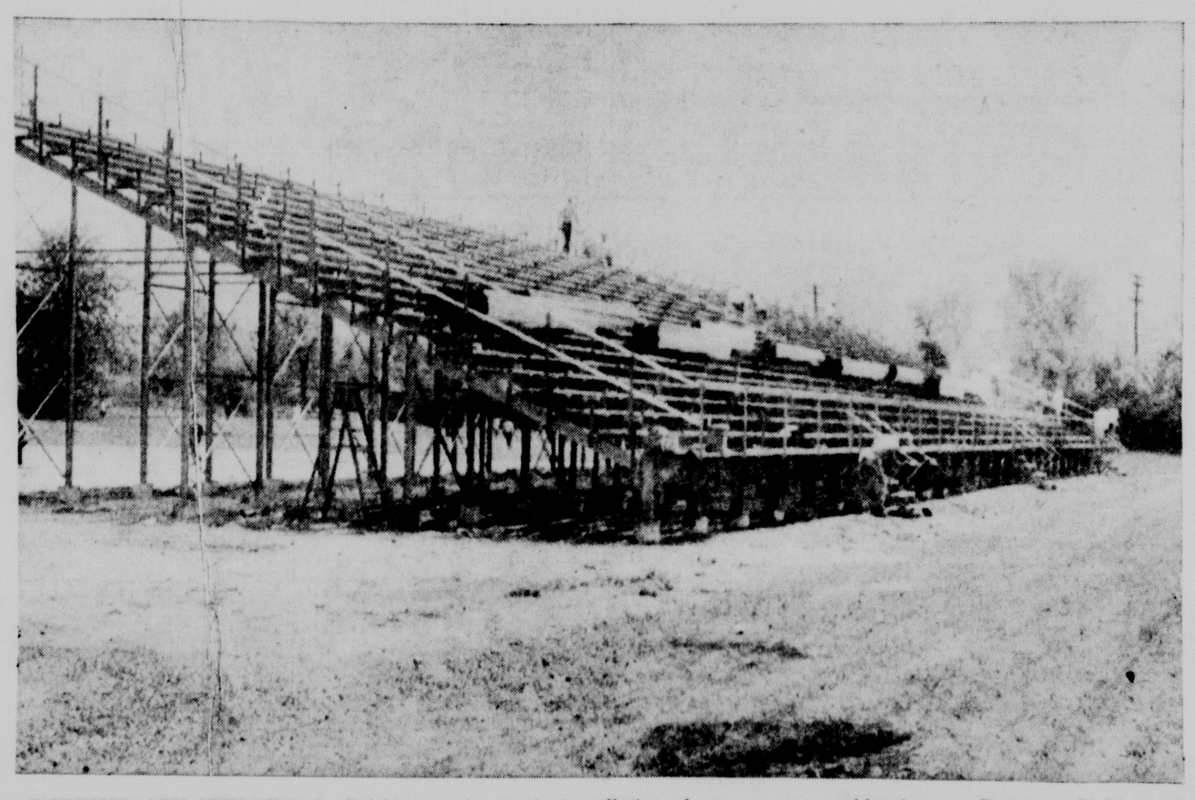
The Angels exploded for three runs in the eighth inning and spoiled Jim Kaat's victory hopes. Joe Adcock drove in the winning pair with a double. George Brunet put down a Minnesota threat in the ninth.

Frank Howard smashed a grand-slam home run in a seven-run fifth inning, sparking Washington's spanking of the Tigers. Willie Kirkland drove in four Senator runs with a homer and a single while Al Kaline and Dick McAuliffe homered for Detroit.

Final Slow Pitch Meeting Set Tuesday

A final meeting for any manager wishing to enter the Slow Pitch League will be held Tuesday at 7 p. m. at Osborn's Barbershop on Washington St.

2,000 New Bleacher Seats Ready



WORKMEN ARE APPLYING the finishing touches to the installation of new permanent bleachers at Patterson Field, part of the improvement program now under way. The bleachers will seat some 2,000. The cost of the project is $20,000. East Liverpool High School is presently conducting a campaign to raise $50,000 for improvements at the field, with the bleachers the costliest item of a four-point program.

Pitchers Take Spotlight In International

By The Associated Press

Pitchers are the current heroes in the International League.

Consider these Tuesday examples:

Atlanta's booming bats were silenced as Toledo won the first shutout of the year against the league-leading Crackers 1-0.

Toronto's six-game winning streak was ended by Rochester 4-0. Columbus nipped Jacksonville in the ninth 3-2 after some fine relief pitching and Syracuse held Buffalo to a total of seven hits in sweeping a doubleheader 2-1 and 4-1.

Jim Brenneman contained the Crackers on eight hits although he needed aid in the ninth from Jim Horsford.

Ed Hobaugh came on in relief at Jacksonville and held the Suns to one hit over the final 3 2-3 innings. Furthermore, Hobaugh led off the ninth with a single to deep short and eventually scored the winning run for Columbus.

Righthander Len Walker turned in his top performance of the season in pitching a one-hitter as the Potters posted a 7-1 victory over Big Red Tuesday at Steubenville.

Walker was in trouble only once and that came in the first inning when Big Red scored its lone run and came up with its only hit. Walker settled down to pitch hitless baseball the remaining six innings after giving up three walks in the first frame.

At one stretch, the hard throwing junior fanned six batters in succession.

East Liverpool's starting lineup showed only one senior as sophomores Emory Brewer and Carl Natalina came up with two hits each. Brewer smacked two doubles and drove in a pair of runs while Natalina doubled and singled.

3 Post Victories In Junior League

The Hammondsville Red Sox, Irondale Pirates and Highlandtown Rebels posted victories in the Junior Baseball League which opened its season Monday.

The Irondale Pirates dealt the Indians a 9-1 setback with Beadnell claiming the mound victory. Don Alvert was the loser.

Paul Boyd cracked a home run to lead the Highlandtown-No. 16 Rebels over the Apaches as Frank Sevek gained the pitching victory and Chuck Gamble was checked with the loss.

Indians Give Job Security To Tebbetts

CLEVELAND (AP) — George Robert "Birdie" Tebbetts, a baseball manager with a philosophy degree, has a fringe benefit a few of his comrades would like—job security.

Cleveland Indians General Manager Gabe Paul, who announced Tuesday that Tebbetts was signed to a new contract through 1966, said it was "to give additional security to our manager."

"I believe that giving him as much security as possible is helpful for both him and the players," Paul said at a hastily called news conference.

Paul didn't elaborate further on why he thought Tebbetts needed more security, but there has been criticism of Birdie lately, mostly by fans, of his handling the Indians.

"You're giving yourself an awful lot of credit," Paul said to one newsman who asked if the new pact was aimed at quieting the second guessing among fans and news media.

"I don't make a move such as this for those reasons. I think Birdie is the best manager in baseball. That's why I extended his contract."

Tebbetts, 55, was signed to a three-year pact in 1963, which would have run out at the end of this season. No salary was disclosed for the new agreement, but it was reported to be about $40,000.

Tebbetts said he didn't know what the new salary was. "I just signed the contract Gabe handed me," he said. "For all I know he may be cutting my pay."

"I'm delighted to be able to say I'll be in Cleveland at least one more year," said Tebbetts. "I love it here. The rebuilding job we've done here in two years is the equal of any in baseball—and I always planned on having time to finish the job."

Second baseman Bobby Richardson of the New York Yankees has led the team in base hits the last four years. The figures are 173, 209, 167 and 181.

Leading Cage Stars To Play Outdoor Exhibition Contest

Some of the top basketball talent to perform on the district high school and college courts last winter will be on display next Wednesday night in the first of several exhibition games scheduled for the First National Bank court on E. 4th St.

Among those performing will be Willie Somerset, Duquesne's all-time scorer, Dennis Cuff and Ed Fleming of the Pittsburgh area along with next year's Youngstown University varsity plus Red Jones, a Little All-American there two seasons ago.

From the high school ranks will be the big three from Midland's state championship squad including Sim Hill, Ron Brown and Norm Vanlier in addition to Ken Durrett the brilliant sophomore star from Schenley High School in Pittsburgh.

Several exhibition games are planned for the summer at East Liverpool and Midland.

Johnson's No-Hit Bid Fails But Astros Win

By DICK COUCH
Associated Pres Sports Writer

But the light-hitting Dodgers probably stand a better chance of holding the National League lead than Houston's Ken Johnson does of breaking even on no-hit decisions.

Johnson, who already has lost a no-hitter, came within eight outs of winning one indoors Tuesday night. He wound up with a ninth-inning shower and a 4-1, three-hit triumph over Los Angeles that ended a seven-game Astro-spin.

The victory in Houston's domed stadium was the third against one loss for the veteran right-hander, who pitched a no-hit gem against Cincinnati last season but bowed 1-0 on errors.

The near no-hitter was the second against the Dodgers in four days. Dick Ellsworth of the Chicago Cubs stymied them for 7 1-3 innings last Saturday only to lose 3-1 on the only LA hit, a three-run homer by pinch hitter Al Ferrara.

The loss trimmed the Dodgers' league lead to 3½ games over the Cincinnati Reds, whose game with Pittsburgh was rained out. St. Louis drubbed Philadelphia 8-2 behind left-hander Ray Sadecki, Milwaukee nipped the New York Mets 4-3 and the Cubs downed San Francisco 7-6 in a game halted after 7½ innings because of darkness and rain.

Ron Fairly doubled with one out in the seventh, ending Johnson's no-hit bid at Houston, and scored the Dodgers' run on a single by Jim Lefebvre. Lou Johnson followed with another single, the third and last hit off Johnson, who gave way to Hal Woodeshick after walking Fairly with one out in the ninth.

Bob Aspromonte knocked in two Astro runs with a third-inning single. John Bateman's sixth-inning home run padded the lead and Rusty Staub singled in the last run in the eighth.

Cassius 'OK' For Title Go, Doctor Says

LEWISTON, Maine (AP) — The doctors say heavyweight champion Cassius Clay is fit and ready for his May 25 title fight with Sonny Liston. The challenger relied on deeds to show he is ready to win back the crown he lost last year.

A Maine Boxing Commission doctor went to Chicopee, Mass., Tuesday to give Clay his pre-fight physical. Dr. Lee Lemieux of Westbrook, made the out-of-state trip so as not to interrupt Clay's training routine in the final week.

Dr. Lemieux pronounced Clay "in A-1 condition and prepared to fight Liston on May 25 in Maine."

Clay was weighed at 211 and promptly said he would remain there for the bout. The champion exercised and did some road work but he didn't spar Tuesday.

Salem Student's Winner In County Essay Contest

BARBARA HURRAY and her eighth-grade teacher, Sister Mary Conrad, hold the Floyd Lower trophy awarded this year for the first time in a health essay contest.

Miss Hurray is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Hurray, 770 N. Union Ave.

THE COLUMBIANA County Health and Safety Council sponsored the contest for seventh, eighth and ninth graders in all public, private and parochial schools. There were 32 entries from 10 schools.

Second prize of $10 went to Anne Yoder, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Yoder of East Palestine, a ninth - grader at East Palestine High School. Anne's subject was "Should Teen-agers Be Concerned About The Health Menace, Tobacco?"

Linda Brenner, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Brenner of Hanoverton, placed third with "To Drink Or Not To Drink?" She will receive her $5 prize at an Awards Day assembly May 27 at United Local High School.

Kathy Sekely, 14, daughter of Mrs. Joan Sekely, Salem R.D. 3, and an eighth - grader at Salem Junior High School, received honorable mention.

THE HEALTH and Safety Council today mailed certificates to the other contestants.

Floyd Lower of Lisbon, for whom the contest is named, selected the winning essays from a group of nine — three each on narcotics, tobacco and alcohol. Atty. Lynn Riddle of Lisbon, Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan and Paul Young, Lisbon Evening Journal reporter, selected the finalists.

An agricultural extension agent for 42 years — 38 in Columbiana County — Lower retired two years ago. He helped establish the Health and Safety Council and other countywide organizations. He organized Ruritan in Eastern Ohio and is a past president of Ruritan national.

In "retirement," Lower is director of the County Regional Planning Commission, executive secretary of the Lisbon Area Chamber of Commerce, secretary - treasurer of the County Forest and Parks Council and a district supervisor of potato test plots for the Agricultural Experiment Station.

MISS HURRAY'S winning essay follows:

"Drug addiction often begins with the teen-ager. Many times, the drugs are first taken on a dare or to be in with the gang. Sometimes it is taken just before a dance or party for the feeling of well-being or to gain confidence.

"Youngsters who experiment with drugs usually know that what they are doing is very dangerous. But, instead of being "chicken" they go ahead with it. These children usually view life as being very unhappy. They have troubles that pile up from day to day.

"It may be due to parental strife, for example, divorce, separation, or hatred in the family. Or, as a study in New York City showed: three-fourths of the adolescents using drugs lived in the poorest, crowded and most dilapidated areas of the city. So, it seems to these unstable individuals that the taking of drugs offers a solution to all of their problems and to their one big problem of growing up.

"MANY THINGS happen as a result of taking narcotics. First of all, since the effects wear off in three or four hours, the drugs will have to be taken again. This leads to money problems. A study in New York found that most juvenile drug - users spend at least $40 a week on heroin. Eventually, he spends much more. An estimation made by a narcotics addiction council found that an addict spends between $20 and $25 per day. To obtain this money, the council said that the addicts committed 50 per cent of the city's crime. This is where juvenile delinquency may have its start. Teen - agers resort to shoplifting and burglary for the cost of maintaining their habit.

"Financial difficulties are not the only problems caused by narcotics. The reflexes of an addict are definitely slowed down. A drug - user may perform his tasks more slowly than usual. If he were given a test, he would not score as high as usual.

"THIS PROBLEM of drugs should be solved and the addicts must be helped. Teen-agers who do not take drugs can help those who do. They should be on a constant lookout for suspicious - looking characters who periodically are in contact with certain teen-agers. These people could be "pushers" of narcotics and should be reported.

"If, by any chance, a teen-ager knows of another whom is taking drugs, he should try his hardest to influence him to stop.

"Since dope addiction begins with the teen - ager in many cases, it is very important that teen-agers know the problems of narcotics and realize that something must be done to prevent others from becoming addicts. Cassius 'OK' For Title Go, Doctor Says

LEWISTON, Maine (AP) — The doctors say heavyweight champion Cassius Clay is fit and ready for his May 25 title fight with Sonny Liston. The challenger relied on deeds to show he is ready to win back the crown he lost last year.

A Maine Boxing Commission doctor went to Chicopee, Mass., Tuesday to give Clay his pre-fight physical. Dr. Lee Lemieux of Westbrook, made the out-of-state trip so as not to interrupt Clay's training routine in the final week.

Dr. Lemieux pronounced Clay "in A-1 condition and prepared to fight Liston on May 25 in Maine."

Clay was weighed at 211 and promptly said he would remain there for the bout. The champion exercised and did some road work but he didn't spar Tuesday.

Salem Student's Winner In County Essay Contest

BARBARA HURRAY and her eighth-grade teacher, Sister Mary Conrad, hold the Floyd Lower trophy awarded this year for the first time in a health essay contest.

Miss Hurray is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Hurray, 770 N. Union Ave.

THE COLUMBIANA County Health and Safety Council sponsored the contest for seventh, eighth and ninth graders in all public, private and parochial schools. There were 32 entries from 10 schools.

Second prize of $10 went to Anne Yoder, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Yoder of East Palestine, a ninth - grader at East Palestine High School. Anne's subject was "Should Teen-agers Be Concerned About The Health Menace, Tobacco?"

Linda Brenner, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Brenner of Hanoverton, placed third with "To Drink Or Not To Drink?" She will receive her $5 prize at an Awards Day assembly May 27 at United Local High School.

Kathy Sekely, 14, daughter of Mrs. Joan Sekely, Salem R.D. 3, and an eighth - grader at Salem Junior High School, received honorable mention.

THE HEALTH and Safety Council today mailed certificates to the other contestants.

Floyd Lower of Lisbon, for whom the contest is named, selected the winning essays from a group of nine — three each on narcotics, tobacco and alcohol. Atty. Lynn Riddle of Lisbon, Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan and Paul Young, Lisbon Evening Journal reporter, selected the finalists.

An agricultural extension agent for 42 years — 38 in Columbiana County — Lower retired two years ago. He helped establish the Health and Safety Council and other countywide organizations. He organized Ruritan in Eastern Ohio and is a past president of Ruritan national.

In "retirement," Lower is director of the County Regional Planning Commission, executive secretary of the Lisbon Area Chamber of Commerce, secretary - treasurer of the County Forest and Parks Council and a district supervisor of potato test plots for the Agricultural Experiment Station.

MISS HURRAY'S winning essay follows:

"Drug addiction often begins with the teen-ager. Many times, the drugs are first taken on a dare or to be in with the gang. Sometimes it is taken just before a dance or party for the feeling of well-being or to gain confidence.

"Youngsters who experiment with drugs usually know that what they are doing is very dangerous. But, instead of being "chicken" they go ahead with it. These children usually view life as being very unhappy. They have troubles that pile up from day to day.

"It may be due to parental strife, for example, divorce, separation, or hatred in the family. Or, as a study in New York City showed: three-fourths of the adolescents using drugs lived in the poorest, crowded and most dilapidated areas of the city. So, it seems to these unstable individuals that the taking of drugs offers a solution to all of their problems and to their one big problem of growing up.

"MANY THINGS happen as a result of taking narcotics. First of all, since the effects wear off in three or four hours, the drugs will have to be taken again. This leads to money problems. A study in New York found that most juvenile drug - users spend at least $40 a week on heroin. Eventually, he spends much more. An estimation made by a narcotics addiction council found that an addict spends between $20 and $25 per day. To obtain this money, the council said that the addicts committed 50 per cent of the city's crime. This is where juvenile delinquency may have its start. Teen - agers resort to shoplifting and burglary for the cost of maintaining their habit.

"Financial difficulties are not the only problems caused by narcotics. The reflexes of an addict are definitely slowed down. A drug - user may perform his tasks more slowly than usual. If he were given a test, he would not score as high as usual.

"THIS PROBLEM of drugs should be solved and the addicts must be helped. Teen-agers who do not take drugs can help those who do. They should be on a constant lookout for suspicious - looking characters who periodically are in contact with certain teen-agers. These people could be "pushers" of narcotics and should be reported.

"If, by any chance, a teen-ager knows of another whom is taking drugs, he should try his hardest to influence him to stop.

"Since dope addiction begins with the teen - ager in many cases, it is very important that teen-agers know the problems of narcotics and realize that something must be done to prevent others from becoming addicts. Programs directed toward eventually reducing the number of addicted individuals are needed, but these call for a long-term effort. Treatment of addicts is difficult and costly. Although there are many ways to help prevent addiction, more ways are needed. Perhaps the teen-ager could play a major role in helping to find these ways."

Second Reading Given To Fees In Hephner's Case

A resolution declaring the intent of Wellsville City Council to pay $1,589 attorney fees incurred by Police Chief John Hephner in his fight to be reinstated as head of the department about a year ago was given second reading by a 4-3 vote Tuesday night.

Council passed the resolution on first reading at its last meeting and then directed the finance committee to determine if there is money available to meet the obligation.

HEPHNER WAS removed from office by Mayor William Daugherty, but was cleared of charges against him by a Civil Service Commission hearing.

Councilman Paul Todd, finance chairman, reported last night there is not enough money available to pay the fees. "We can't appropriate money we can't get," he said.

He read figures showing that after the annual appropriation was prepared only $921.12 was left. To date, the city is $1,800 short of anticipated funds.

The resolution in question was prepared by Fraternal Order of Police Lodge 11, which says it helped pay the chief's attorney fees.

Patrolman Charles Amato, lodge president, spoke from the audience, asking that favorable action be taken on the second reading and added that perhaps the money would be found before final passage. He also said the lodge would be willing to accept $900 in payment.

Councilman Aguin Bowling moved the resolution be given second reading. The second was by Councilman Walter Henthorne.

OPPOSING passage were Councilmen Meryle Kenny, Todd and Dwight MacLean. Favoring were Bowling, Henthorne, Nunzio Lombardozzi and William Stoddard.

The resolution will be presented for the third and final reading at the next meeting June 1.

In other business, Council heard a report from Harold Sneddon, general manager of the Ohio Valley Gas Co., on plans to install a new service main along Main St. between 15th and 18th Sts.

He said the main will be relocated along the sidewalk so it will not be necessary to tear up the street for any future repairs or connections. He explained the utility will replace the sidewalk.

The Ohio Pipeline Construction Co. of Newark will do the work. Bowling said Ohio Valley deserves a vote of thanks for the help it has provided the city in the past.

COUNCIL WAS informed the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. has petitioned the PUCO for permission to install flasher lights and gates at the 18th St. crossing. It now is guarded part time by a watchman.

It was reported the Board of Control will readvertise for bids for leasing of city - owned land along Little Yellow Creek for installation of a boat marina. Charles Eichler of Salem has failed to act on a contract on his bid.

Legislation was ordered to advertise for bids for coal, alum, gasoline, salt, blacktop patching, a two - ton dump truck for the street department and a half-ton or one - ton pickup truck for the water department.

The property committee was asked to investigate a bill of $50 from McGill & Smith of Cincinnati, engineers, for preparing a description of land adjoining the city's sewage disposal plant.

The mayor's report for April showed $596 collected in fines and fees.

A letter was read from the Allied Oil Co. showing that trucking firms had directed license fees be paid to the city. The firms purchased licenses totaling $20,540, with a percentage of this to be paid by the state to Wellsville.

Street lights were ordered for 18th St. Heights, 8th St., on Lincoln Ave. between 16th and 17th Sts., Center St. between 14th and 15th St. and Smith Alley. Council had delayed approving the requests pending approval of the street light levy submitted at the primary election.

Henthorne pointed out the city is without a health commissioner. He asked if it would be possible to obtain someone from out of town. Bowling said there is a lot of detailed work involved and the pay is low, but the doctors owe something to the community if they live here. "They ought to be ashamed," he commented.

Second Reading Given To Fees In Hephner's Case

A resolution declaring the intent of Wellsville City Council to pay $1,589 attorney fees incurred by Police Chief John Hephner in his fight to be reinstated as head of the department about a year ago was given second reading by a 4-3 vote Tuesday night.

Council passed the resolution on first reading at its last meeting and then directed the finance committee to determine if there is money available to meet the obligation.

HEPHNER WAS removed from office by Mayor William Daugherty, but was cleared of charges against him by a Civil Service Commission hearing.

Councilman Paul Todd, finance chairman, reported last night there is not enough money available to pay the fees. "We can't appropriate money we can't get," he said.

He read figures showing that after the annual appropriation was prepared only $921.12 was left. To date, the city is $1,800 short of anticipated funds.

The resolution in question was prepared by Fraternal Order of Police Lodge 11, which says it helped pay the chief's attorney fees.

Patrolman Charles Amato, lodge president, spoke from the audience, asking that favorable action be taken on the second reading and added that perhaps the money would be found before final passage. He also said the lodge would be willing to accept $900 in payment.

Councilman Aguin Bowling moved the resolution be given second reading. The second was by Councilman Walter Henthorne.

New Contracts Approved At County Board Meeting

LISBON — The Columbiana County Board of Education Tuesday night gave three - year contracts to Lorin Ruff of East Rochester, elementary consultant, and Hubert Lawrence of Columbiana, school psychologist.

A continuing contract was given to Mrs. June Ingraham, secretary, and a two - year contract to Fred Lohman of Salineville R. D. 2, attendance officer. All will be effective Aug. 1, except that of Lohman, which will go into force Sept. 1.

In other business, the board approved the following textbooks for use in the county's four rural schools:

Social studies — Grade 1, "Exploring With Friends;" Grade 2, "Billy's Neighbors;" Grade 3, "Working Together;" Grade 4, "Exploring Regions Near and Far;" Grade 5, "Exploring the New World;" Grade 6, "Exploring the Old World;" Grade 7, "Exploring American Neighbors," and Grade 8, "Story of American Nations."

Science — "Todays Basic Science," Grades 1 through 6; "The World of Living Things," Grade 7, and "The World of Matter Energy," Grade 8; Grade 9, "Modern Earth Science."

English — Grade 1, "Let's Talk and Listen;" Grades 2 through 8, "Language for Daily Use."

It also approved the Zaner-Blosser writing system for the schools.

Supt. James L. McBride reported on the school poverty program and estimated that Columbiana County will get an estimated $465,624 and that statistics show the county had 2,088 pupils in school whose parents are earning less than $2,000 per year. McBride, Lowell Myers, Wellsville superintendent, and Oliver Payne, Lisbon exempted school superintendent, were selected as a committee to allocate the money in the county.

McBride also discussed H.B. 773 and said a resolution will be sent to Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel and Sen. Edward Sargus for its defeat and for their work on another PEP program for the state.

McBride told the board that the questionnaire for seniors in all the schools in the county has been completed and will be sent to authorities making a survey of the county for a report on a community college.

He also reported that Dean Phillips, attendance officer of Salem schools; Gayle Gloss, principal at Columbiana High School; George Hargraves Jr., assistant superintendent of East Liverpool schools, and Urton Anderson, high school consultant for rural schools, have been appointed on a committee to work with Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin on a truancy and delinquency committee for all county schools.

The board approved and recommended the Pioneer Mutual Casualty Co. for pupil insurance in its four schools for the coming year. Its rates are $2 and $3 per pupil, plus $15 extra for football players.

A letter was ordered to be sent to the Columbiana County fair board for allowing the junior high track meet to be held at the fairgrounds recently.

Attendance Officer Fred Lohman reported he drove 817 miles and made 23 home and 46 school calls during the month.

Bills of $233.64 were ordered paid. The board's next regular meeting will be June 21 at 8:30 p. m.

Red Cross Aide To Be Honored

An informal reception for Mrs. Ruth Sprouse, executive secretary of the North Hancock County Chapter of the Red Cross, will be held Friday at 8 p. m. at the Newell United Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Sprouse, who has served with the Red Cross movement for many years, will be retiring about July 1 as a result of the scheduled merger of the chapter with other chapters in the area.

New Contracts Approved At County Board Meeting

LISBON — The Columbiana County Board of Education Tuesday night gave three - year contracts to Lorin Ruff of East Rochester, elementary consultant, and Hubert Lawrence of Columbiana, school psychologist.

A continuing contract was given to Mrs. June Ingraham, secretary, and a two - year contract to Fred Lohman of Salineville R. D. 2, attendance officer. All will be effective Aug. 1, except that of Lohman, which will go into force Sept. 1.

In other business, the board approved the following textbooks for use in the county's four rural schools:

Social studies — Grade 1, "Exploring With Friends;" Grade 2, "Billy's Neighbors;" Grade 3, "Working Together;" Grade 4, "Exploring Regions Near and Far;" Grade 5, "Exploring the New World;" Grade 6, "Exploring the Old World;" Grade 7, "Exploring American Neighbors," and Grade 8, "Story of American Nations."

Science — "Todays Basic Science," Grades 1 through 6; "The World of Living Things," Grade 7, and "The World of Matter Energy," Grade 8; Grade 9, "Modern Earth Science."

English — Grade 1, "Let's Talk and Listen;" Grades 2 through 8, "Language for Daily Use."

It also approved the Zaner-Blosser writing system for the schools.

Supt. James L. McBride reported on the school poverty program and estimated that Columbiana County will get an estimated $465,624 and that statistics show the county had 2,088 pupils in school whose parents are earning less than $2,000 per year. McBride, Lowell Myers, Wellsville superintendent, and Oliver Payne, Lisbon exempted school superintendent, were selected as a committee to allocate the money in the county.

McBride also discussed H.B. 773 and said a resolution will be sent to Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel and Sen. Edward Sargus for its defeat and for their work on another PEP program for the state.

McBride told the board that the questionnaire for seniors in all the schools in the county has been completed and will be sent to authorities making a survey of the county for a report on a community college.

He also reported that Dean Phillips, attendance officer of Salem schools; Gayle Gloss, principal at Columbiana High School; George Hargraves Jr., assistant superintendent of East Liverpool schools, and Urton Anderson, high school consultant for rural schools, have been appointed on a committee to work with Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin on a truancy and delinquency committee for all county schools.

The board approved and recommended the Pioneer Mutual Casualty Co. for pupil insurance in its four schools for the coming year. Its rates are $2 and $3 per pupil, plus $15 extra for football players.

A letter was ordered to be sent to the Columbiana County fair board for allowing the junior high track meet to be held at the fairgrounds recently.

Attendance Officer Fred Lohman reported he drove 817 miles and made 23 home and 46 school calls during the month.

Bills of $233.64 were ordered paid. The board's next regular meeting will be June 21 at 8:30 p. m.

Red Cross Aide To Be Honored

An informal reception for Mrs. Ruth Sprouse, executive secretary of the North Hancock County Chapter of the Red Cross, will be held Friday at 8 p. m. at the Newell United Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Sprouse, who has served with the Red Cross movement for many years, will be retiring about July 1 as a result of the scheduled merger of the chapter with other chapters in the area.

Gals, I ran all the way to my typewriter to get this down on paper!

I was using some iron-on tape to do some mending and got some stickum on my ironing board. I knew it would make a mess of my iron if I couldn't get the adhesive off the ironing board cover (I just couldn't remove it from the silicone cover) and a thought struck me like a bolt of lightning . . . why not just put a piece of iron-on tape OVER that spot and iron it on?

Works like a charm!

I made a drawstring bag out of the net and use it as a curler caddy. The bag can be made any size and it can be decorated.

And the curlers can be washed and dried in the same bag!

A TEEN-AGER.

DEAR HELOISE: I like to keep scrapbooks of clippings, pictures, poems, etc., and have found rubber cement to be the best adhesive to use for pasting items in the books.

I was so busy pasting clippings in a book yesterday that I failed to notice my 5-year-old had climbed up on a chair and grabbed the tube of rubber cement I had left open, and proceeded to squeeze it out on his clothing, the tablecloth and even the rug.

You can plainly see that I need help in a hurry to do a good clean-up job.

"ALL STUCK UP."

To remove rubber cement, scrape off as much as possible after it dries, then sponge with cleaning fluid.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: Here is a rather unconventional way to get the water out of lettuce:

I put the sopping wet head of lettuce in a plastic bag, grasp the bag tightly at the top and swing it around a few times at arm's length. (Do this on the back porch or in the yard if you value your kitchen fixtures).

Occasionally stop swinging and pour the accumulated water out of the bag.

Keep this up until you have the lettuce as dry as you want it. (You may be half way to Detroit by then, but maybe you needed a vacation!)

The only drawback to this method is that your neighbor may have been watching you and then rushed to the phone and dialed the appropriate number — absolutely sure you've flipped your lid!

Just as as you sit down to enjoy the salad, you may be snatched away by a man in a white coat.

Your hint may sound hilarious but I tried it and it's wonderful. Bless you always.

Out Of The Air

By RICHARD DOAN

Life In The U.S.S.R.

American TV audiences appear to stand a chance in the coming months of seeing a good deal more than they have in the past of life inside the U.S.S.R.

Richard Doan

Not that the Soviet Union suddenly has let down the bars completely to foreign television reporters and cameras. Far from it. But the Kremlin — for unexplained reasons, as always —seems of late more receptive to requests from the American networks, judging by reports trickling out of network news shops here.

-:-

FOR INSTANCE, CBS' "Twentieth Century" producers, after a long wait, finally have gotten a green light from the Russians to film a program about Moscow University.

And NBC set up for its Moscow correspondent, Frank Bourgholtzer, currently back in this country, a 30-minute news special last Sunday, examining the personalities and political attitudes of the Soviet's new leaders, Leonid Brezhnev and Aleksei Kosygin.

It was Bourgholtzer who last month got an in-depth interview on color film with Russia's two space-walking cosmonauts.

MEANWHILE, a "CBS Reports" producer, Gene de Poris, left New York for Moscow to consult Communist officials on details of the network's desire to film a trip down the Volga River as a means of depicting life in the Soviet heartland. The Kremlin has given the idea a tentative blessing.

CBS hopes to show the resulting program as the September premiere of "CBS Reports" for next season.

THUS FAR the Kremlin has not seen fit to clear any participation by Soviet TV in transatlantic telecasts employing Comsat's new synchronous satellite.

The problem faced by U.S. TV producers in the Soviet Union up to now has been basically twofold: (1) sometimes the Communist committee which must authorize any foreign TV activity inside Russia simply ignores applications, and not a thng can be done about it; (2) at other times the Kremlin says okay, but the film must be processed — and hence passed —by the Russians.

American TV officials, instinctively bridling at any kind of censorship, usually turn down such qualified entree.

BUT, ON OCCASION, the Russians let exposed film leave the country undeveloped. It happened in the case of NBC's imposing documentary on "The Kremlin."

Isaac Kleinerman, producer of "Twentieth Century," got a good reception at the Kremlin a couple of weeks ago when he renewed a long-standing pitch to Soviet officials for permission to do a show on the university, according to Burton Benjamin, executive producer of the CBS series.

Barring any further hitch, filming of the program will get under way in September when fall classes assemble.

Benjamin would like also to shoot a report on the Soviet Union's "new frontier" in Siberia, but said he was not pressing this idea just now.

"We'll take one step at a time," he commented.

IT MIGHT NOT seem to some Americans that there is much in television worth preserving, but the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences naturally feels differently.

The academy has a foundation which has been at work for 10 years to create a National Library of Television. Robert F. Lewine, an independent TV programming executive who heads the foundation, has announced the library is about to become a reality.

Actually, the filmed, kinescoped and videotaped programs collected by the foundation will be housed in three places — at the University of California at Los Angeles, at New York University and at American University in Washington, D.C.

"OUR PURPOSE is to put together a visual history of TV since its beginnings," Lewine told a news conference here. "Many negatives, of course, have been destroyed, but we hope to get samples covering the whole spectrum."

The networks and independent producers are cooperating, Lewine said, in supplying prints of past shows.

A fund-raising drive for the library will be launched with a "Monte Carlo Ball" planned by the academy's New York chapter on June 4. TV sponsors will be invited to contribute to the library's support, Lewine said.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers? I'm a girl who probably should have been a boy. I'm large and muscular, but not fat. The problem is that I'm much better at sports than any of the fellows I go with and it is embarrassing. I think it also is hurting me socially.

I can cream any fellow I know on the tennis court. I love to play tennis but not too many fellows will play against me. I started to play golf with my dad when I was 7. I won a local tournament last year and the person I beat used to be a special boy friend. He doesn't call me any more.

I once believed that excelling in sports would make me more popular but it's doing just the opposite. The uncoordinated girls who don't know a putter from a mashie do just fine sitting on the sidelines.

Do you have any advice for me? — A WINNER WHO MAY BE LOSING.

Dear Losing Winner: No fellow likes to have his brains beaten out — especially by a girl.

Maybe it's not your ability but your attitude that sours the boys. It's easy to be a gracious loser but it's hard to be a gracious winner. Could this be your problem?

Speedy Departure

Dear Ann: I never have been sure of myself socially, and my husband is even more insecure, so please tell me if you think we are too sensitive.

We visited in the home of new friends recently and spent a pleasant few hours. When we said good night the host slammed the door behind us so fast it actually jarred my hat. My husband and I both got the impression they couldn't wait to get rid of us.

When our guests leave we always walk them to their car, or if the weather is bad we stand in the doorway until they drive off. Are we overly hospitable or are our friends less than hospitable?—NEED TO KNOW.

Dear Need to Know: It is unspeakably rude to slam the door on departing guests. The custom of walking guests to their car suggests that their company is desired up to the very last moment.

Try shortening your next visit by an hour and see if you get a warmer farewell.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Prairie Chickens Are Close To Extinction

ALTON, Ill. (AP)— Prairie chickens, once in the millions in Illinois and surrounding states in the Midwest, are close to extinction Apparently few people care except a few conservation biologists. There are now no more than 500 or 600 birds left.

According to biologist William Edwards of the Illinois Natural History Survey, the prairie chicken population had reached an all-time peak in the 1860s as grain crops spread over wide acres and the prairie grass was starting to give way to the plow.

Prairie chickens unlike other species will not adapt to their surrounding — they must have grassland in which to nest.

Residents wishing to have oiling undertaken are to register and pay for the project next Monday night at 7:30 at the township hall.

Cost will be 12 cents a running foot for an 18-foot-wide strip, trustees said.

A delegation from Glenn St. in Glenmoor requested road and sewer repairs to the street in order to place the roadway on the blacktop program next year.

But the Kremlin — for unexplained reasons, as always —seems of late more receptive to requests from the American networks, judging by reports trickling out of network news shops here.

FOR INSTANCE, CBS' "Twentieth Century" producers, after a long wait, finally have gotten a green light from the Russians to film a program about Moscow University.

And NBC set up for its Moscow correspondent, Frank Bourgholtzer, currently back in this country, a 30-minute news special last Sunday, examining the personalities and political attitudes of the Soviet's new leaders, Leonid Brezhnev and Aleksei Kosygin.

It was Bourgholtzer who last month got an in-depth interview on color film with Russia's two space-walking cosmonauts.

MEANWHILE, a "CBS Reports" producer, Gene de Poris, left New York for Moscow to consult Communist officials on details of the network's desire to film a trip down the Volga River as a means of depicting life in the Soviet heartland. The Kremlin has given the idea a tentative blessing.

CBS hopes to show the resulting program as the September premiere of "CBS Reports" for next season.

THUS FAR the Kremlin has not seen fit to clear any participation by Soviet TV in transatlantic telecasts employing Comsat's new synchronous satellite.

The problem faced by U.S. TV producers in the Soviet Union up to now has been basically twofold: (1) sometimes the Communist committee which must authorize any foreign TV activity inside Russia simply ignores applications, and not a thng can be done about it; (2) at other times the Kremlin says okay, but the film must be processed — and hence passed —by the Russians.

American TV officials, instinctively bridling at any kind of censorship, usually turn down such qualified entree.

BUT, ON OCCASION, the Russians let exposed film leave the country undeveloped. It happened in the case of NBC's imposing documentary on "The Kremlin."

Isaac Kleinerman, producer of "Twentieth Century," got a good reception at the Kremlin a couple of weeks ago when he renewed a long-standing pitch to Soviet officials for permission to do a show on the university, according to Burton Benjamin, executive producer of the CBS series.

Barring any further hitch, filming of the program will get under way in September when fall classes assemble.

Benjamin would like also to shoot a report on the Soviet Union's "new frontier" in Siberia, but said he was not pressing this idea just now.

"We'll take one step at a time," he commented.

IT MIGHT NOT seem to some Americans that there is much in television worth preserving, but the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences naturally feels differently.

The academy has a foundation which has been at work for 10 years to create a National Library of Television. Robert F. Lewine, an independent TV programming executive who heads the foundation, has announced the library is about to become a reality.

Actually, the filmed, kinescoped and videotaped programs collected by the foundation will be housed in three places — at the University of California at Los Angeles, at New York University and at American University in Washington, D.C.

"OUR PURPOSE is to put together a visual history of TV since its beginnings," Lewine told a news conference here. "Many negatives, of course, have been destroyed, but we hope to get samples covering the whole spectrum."

The networks and independent producers are cooperating, Lewine said, in supplying prints of past shows.

A fund-raising drive for the library will be launched with a "Monte Carlo Ball" planned by the academy's New York chapter on June 4. TV sponsors will be invited to contribute to the library's support, Lewine said.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers? I'm a girl who probably should have been a boy. I'm large and muscular, but not fat. The problem is that I'm much better at sports than any of the fellows I go with and it is embarrassing. I think it also is hurting me socially.

I can cream any fellow I know on the tennis court. I love to play tennis but not too many fellows will play against me. I started to play golf with my dad when I was 7. I won a local tournament last year and the person I beat used to be a special boy friend. He doesn't call me any more.

I once believed that excelling in sports would make me more popular but it's doing just the opposite. The uncoordinated girls who don't know a putter from a mashie do just fine sitting on the sidelines.

Do you have any advice for me? — A WINNER WHO MAY BE LOSING.

Dear Losing Winner: No fellow likes to have his brains beaten out — especially by a girl.

Maybe it's not your ability but your attitude that sours the boys. It's easy to be a gracious loser but it's hard to be a gracious winner. Could this be your problem?

Speedy Departure

Dear Ann: I never have been sure of myself socially, and my husband is even more insecure, so please tell me if you think we are too sensitive.

We visited in the home of new friends recently and spent a pleasant few hours. When we said good night the host slammed the door behind us so fast it actually jarred my hat. My husband and I both got the impression they couldn't wait to get rid of us.

When our guests leave we always walk them to their car, or if the weather is bad we stand in the doorway until they drive off. Are we overly hospitable or are our friends less than hospitable?—NEED TO KNOW.

Dear Need to Know: It is unspeakably rude to slam the door on departing guests. The custom of walking guests to their car suggests that their company is desired up to the very last moment.

Try shortening your next visit by an hour and see if you get a warmer farewell.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Prairie Chickens Are Close To Extinction

ALTON, Ill. (AP)— Prairie chickens, once in the millions in Illinois and surrounding states in the Midwest, are close to extinction Apparently few people care except a few conservation biologists. There are now no more than 500 or 600 birds left.

According to biologist William Edwards of the Illinois Natural History Survey, the prairie chicken population had reached an all-time peak in the 1860s as grain crops spread over wide acres and the prairie grass was starting to give way to the plow.

Prairie chickens unlike other species will not adapt to their surrounding — they must have grassland in which to nest.

Whipped Strawberry Frosted Layer Cake

One way to lighten your entertaining chores at this time of year is this idea for dressing up cakes made from prepared mixes.

Simply split two cooled cake layers so that you have four thin layers; then frost each layer with fluffy whipped strawberry icing and garnish with colorful fresh strawberries.

The creamy smooth frosting is easily made with sliced frozen strawberries, marshmallow whip and velvetized evaporated milk. In order to give the frosting a light airy texture, the evaporated milk first is whipped into creamy mounds and then folded into the strawberry - and - marshmallow mixture.

Another easy-to-prepare dessert is Strawberry Whipped Angel Food Pie. It, too, gets its creamy smooth texture and fluffiness from whipped velvetized evaporated milk.

WHIPPED STRAWBERRY FROSTED CAKE
(Makes 9-inch cake)

1 package (10 ounches) frozen sliced strawberries, thawed
Water
1 package (3 ounches) lemon flavor gelatin
½ cup marshmallow whip
1 cup undiluted velvetized evaporated milk
2 9-inch cake layers, split

Drain strawberries; add enough water to measure 1 cup liquid. Heat liquid to boiling. Pour over gelatin in large bowl; stir until dissolved. Blend in marshmallow whip.

Chill until consistency of unbeaten egg white. Chill evaporated milk in refrigerator tray until soft ice crystals form around edges (about 10 to 15 minutes.) Whip until stiff (about 1 minute.) Add lemon juice.

Whip very stiff (about 2 minutes longer). Fold with strawberries into marshmallow mixture. Chill 10 minutes. Frost each layer. Allow to set in refrigerator 15 to 20 minutes. Stack layers; chill until serving time.

STRAWBERRY WHIPPED ANGEL FOOD PIE

1½ cups graham cracker crumbs
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup melted butter
½ cup sugar
1 package (3 ounces) strawberry flavored gelatin
1 package (10 ounches) frozen sliced California strawberries, thawed
2-3 cup water
1 cup undiluted velvetized evaporated milk
2 tablespoons lemon juice

Mix crumbs, 2 tablespoons sugar and melted butter together. Line sides and bottom of 9-inch pie plate. Chill. Combine gelatin and ½ cup sugar. Drain 1-3 cup syrup from strawberries. Reserve strawberries.

Combine strawberry syrup and water, heat to boiling point. Pour over gelatin mixture. Stir until gelatine dissolves. Chill until the consistency of unbeaten egg white.

Chill evaporated milk in refrigerator tray until soft ice crystals form around edges of tray (about 15 to 20 minutes). Whip until stiff (about 1 minute). Add the 2 tablespoons lemon juice and whip very stiff (about 2 minutes longer.)

Farmer Ready To Give Land To Settle $1,717 Tax Claim

DEL RIO, Tenn. (AP) — Wilford Metcalf, who says he is so hard up that poverty looks good to him, offered today to give the government his 86-acre mountain farm to settle its $1,717.52 claim against him.

"My daddy raised all 13 of us children to be honest," said the 48-year-old World War II veteran. He is accused of cutting timber on government land.

"I hope to settle this matter honorably. I don't have $1,717.52. But I want to be honest. I would be willing to give this farm in settlement of this claim."

He wrote his congressman, Rep. James F. Quillen, R-Tenn., after a government attorney advised him he had until May 26 to meet the claim. Quillen turned it over to Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman with the comment that if this problem couldn't be solved "we had better forget about winning any war against poverty."

Metcalf's farm is in a deep valley in a remote section of Cocke County, adjoining Cherokee National Forest. The government claims 55 acres of his farm lies within the forest and bases its claim on timber cut there.

Metcalf has carved a narrow road down the hillside to the house. It is barely passable by foot. No vehicle can use the road.

Metcalf, his wife and four children, moved to another house four years ago so the children could get to school without climbing the steep trail.

"I bought the property from Leonard James Dec. 18, 1950," he said. "My deed calls for 86 acres, more or less, and it was my understanding that the line ran to the top of the mountain.

"Three years ago the government surveyed and stopped me from removing any more timber, at which time I wrote the late Sen. Estes Kefauver and had not heard any more from them until last week."

He said he had paid $850 for the farm with its 20 acres of tillable land. His money crop is tobacco.

Wildlife Area's Expansion Seen Nearly Finished

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Fred E. Morr, director of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, says expansion of Mosquito Creek Reservoir Wildlife Area near Warren is rapidly approaching completion.

Plans call for acquisition of 6,000 acres of land, of which almost 3,000 have been acquired or are awaiting controlling board release of funds, Morr said. Additional acreage will be sought once the legislature approves use of the funds.

The Mosquito Creek project is located south of Ohio 87 between Greenburg and Lockwood in Trumbull County. Morr said it is being eyed optimistically by state and federal officials as a potential waterfowl management area.

After completion of the project the area's goose population is expected to be increased from 3,000 to possibly as many as 20,000.

You do not need to add more than one tablespoon of milk to one egg when you are making the dip for French toast or French - toasted sandwiches. This method goes heavy on the eggs but produces especially delicious toast or sandwiches.

Whipped Strawberry Frosted Layer Cake

One way to lighten your entertaining chores at this time of year is this idea for dressing up cakes made from prepared mixes.

Simply split two cooled cake layers so that you have four thin layers; then frost each layer with fluffy whipped strawberry icing and garnish with colorful fresh strawberries.

The creamy smooth frosting is easily made with sliced frozen strawberries, marshmallow whip and velvetized evaporated milk. In order to give the frosting a light airy texture, the evaporated milk first is whipped into creamy mounds and then folded into the strawberry - and - marshmallow mixture.

Another easy-to-prepare dessert is Strawberry Whipped Angel Food Pie. It, too, gets its creamy smooth texture and fluffiness from whipped velvetized evaporated milk.

WHIPPED STRAWBERRY FROSTED CAKE
(Makes 9-inch cake)

1 package (10 ounches) frozen sliced strawberries, thawed
Water
1 package (3 ounches) lemon flavor gelatin
½ cup marshmallow whip
1 cup undiluted velvetized evaporated milk
2 9-inch cake layers, split

Drain strawberries; add enough water to measure 1 cup liquid. Heat liquid to boiling. Pour over gelatin in large bowl; stir until dissolved. Blend in marshmallow whip.

Chill until consistency of unbeaten egg white. Chill evaporated milk in refrigerator tray until soft ice crystals form around edges (about 10 to 15 minutes.) Whip until stiff (about 1 minute.) Add lemon juice.

Whip very stiff (about 2 minutes longer). Fold with strawberries into marshmallow mixture. Chill 10 minutes. Frost each layer. Allow to set in refrigerator 15 to 20 minutes. Stack layers; chill until serving time.

STRAWBERRY WHIPPED ANGEL FOOD PIE
(Makes 9-inch single-crust pie)

1½ cups graham cracker crumbs
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup melted butter
½ cup sugar
1 package (3 ounces) strawberry flavored gelatin
1 package (10 ounches) frozen sliced California strawberries, thawed
2-3 cup water
1 cup undiluted velvetized evaporated milk
2 tablespoons lemon juice

Mix crumbs, 2 tablespoons sugar and melted butter together. Line sides and bottom of 9-inch pie plate. Chill. Combine gelatin and ½ cup sugar. Drain 1-3 cup syrup from strawberries. Reserve strawberries.

Combine strawberry syrup and water, heat to boiling point. Pour over gelatin mixture. Stir until gelatine dissolves. Chill until the consistency of unbeaten egg white.

Chill evaporated milk in refrigerator tray until soft ice crystals form around edges of tray (about 15 to 20 minutes). Whip until stiff (about 1 minute). Add the 2 tablespoons lemon juice and whip very stiff (about 2 minutes longer.)

Farmer Ready To Give Land To Settle $1,717 Tax Claim

DEL RIO, Tenn. (AP) — Wilford Metcalf, who says he is so hard up that poverty looks good to him, offered today to give the government his 86-acre mountain farm to settle its $1,717.52 claim against him.

"My daddy raised all 13 of us children to be honest," said the 48-year-old World War II veteran. He is accused of cutting timber on government land.

"I hope to settle this matter honorably. I don't have $1,717.52. But I want to be honest. I would be willing to give this farm in settlement of this claim."

He wrote his congressman, Rep. James F. Quillen, R-Tenn., after a government attorney advised him he had until May 26 to meet the claim. Quillen turned it over to Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman with the comment that if this problem couldn't be solved "we had better forget about winning any war against poverty."

Metcalf's farm is in a deep valley in a remote section of Cocke County, adjoining Cherokee National Forest. The government claims 55 acres of his farm lies within the forest and bases its claim on timber cut there.

Metcalf has carved a narrow road down the hillside to the house. It is barely passable by foot. No vehicle can use the road.

Metcalf, his wife and four children, moved to another house four years ago so the children could get to school without climbing the steep trail.

"I bought the property from Leonard James Dec. 18, 1950," he said. "My deed calls for 86 acres, more or less, and it was my understanding that the line ran to the top of the mountain.

"Three years ago the government surveyed and stopped me from removing any more timber, at which time I wrote the late Sen. Estes Kefauver and had not heard any more from them until last week."

He said he had paid $850 for the farm with its 20 acres of tillable land. His money crop is tobacco.

Chairman Of Ohio's Youth Group Resigns

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State officials are hoping that Ohio Yuoth Commission chairman Wayne Fogle, whose resignation becomes effective June 1, will remain at the post until a successor can be named.

The 68-year-old Fogle resigned from the $15,000-a-year post for health reasons. John McElroy, administrative assistant to Gov. James A. Rhodes, says Fogle appears to have recuperated well.

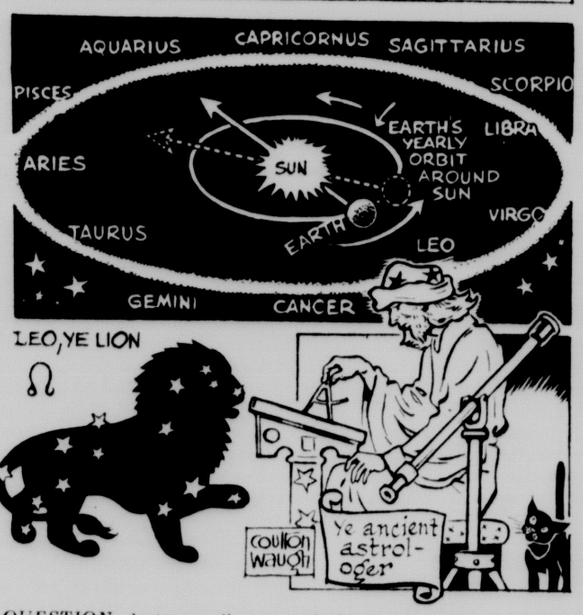
ZODIAC



QUESTION: Is the zodiac a real thing, or just something dreamed up by astrologers?

ANSWER: The zodiac is a real thing. Think of the sun rising in the east, appearing to move across the sky and sinking in the west. If you get up just before dawn, you would probably notice a group of stars, or constellation, in about the place where the sun was to rise. What would happen to this group of stars during the day? The sunlit sky blanks out the stars by day; but if you could see them, you would observe that these stars behind the sun at dawn would swing behind it all day and sink behind it at sunset. Now look at our illustration. Imagine yourself on earth looking at the sunrise. The solid arrow points to the group of stars behind it, and you see it as the constellation Aquarius. (Ancient astrologers gave names to constellations because they fancied they looked like gods and animals, such as Leo the lion). But a month later the earth was moved it its orbit around the sun to a new position (dotted outline.) Now the stars will seem to slowly move in front of Aries, and so on during the year, until it is back in Aquarius again. This belt of 12 constellations, which makes a band going around our solar system 30 degrees wide, is called the zodiac.

FOR YOU TO DO: The old astrologers imagined stars influenced peoples' lives, although few nowadays believe this. To find out roughly where the zodiacs lies, figure where the sun rises and sets and sweep your arm across between these points. Besides the sun, the moon and major planets also appear to move within this zone.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, May 19, the 139th day of 1965. There are 226 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1946, the average American workman was revealed to have been earning about $46 a week against $51 a week one year earlier and $27 in 1939.

On this date

In 1898, British statesman William Gladstone died.

In 1944, American fortresses and liberators bombed Berlin — and German troops in Italy were retreating in confusion.

Ten years ago — The prime ministers of India and Pakistan completed their talks on Kashmir without agreement, but providing for later conferences.

Five years ago—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev visited East Germany on his way home from the Paris summit meeting that failed. In East Berlin he surprised observers by announcing that Russia was not planning any immediate unilateral moves on West Berlin.

One year ago — The United States revealed some 40 microphones had been found in walls of the American Embassy in Moscow — they were believed to have been put there 11 years earlier.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I clean copper or brass?

A.—Mix up a paste of equal parts of table salt and flour, using vinegar as the combining agent. Rub this over the metal, let dry, then remove with hot sudsy water. If the metal happens to be in particular bad shape, apply the paste more generously, and allow to remain on for several hours before removing it.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, May 19, the 139th day of 1965. There are 226 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1946, the average American workman was revealed to have been earning about $46 a week against $51 a week one year earlier and $27 in 1939.

On this date

In 1898, British statesman William Gladstone died.

In 1944, American fortresses and liberators bombed Berlin — and German troops in Italy were retreating in confusion.

Ten years ago — The prime ministers of India and Pakistan completed their talks on Kashmir without agreement, but providing for later conferences.

Five years ago—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev visited East Germany on his way home from the Paris summit meeting that failed. In East Berlin he surprised observers by announcing that Russia was not planning any immediate unilateral moves on West Berlin.

One year ago — The United States revealed some 40 microphones had been found in walls of the American Embassy in Moscow — they were believed to have been put there 11 years earlier.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I clean copper or brass?

A.—Mix up a paste of equal parts of table salt and flour, using vinegar as the combining agent. Rub this over the metal, let dry, then remove with hot sudsy water. If the metal happens to be in particular bad shape, apply the paste more generously, and allow to remain on for several hours before removing it.
